Seems like the CCP has lost a bit of their over reach and pissed people off. We might see a drop in cell phone subscriptions...again where millions just disappear.

This is pretty scary, especially since the virus is going around. I would be pretty anxious if I lived in a place like that. Though, I would bet money that things like this are going to start popping up everywhere else too. Wild times.

SaintJimmy - March 30, 2020, 3:31 am

Seems like these are all like "fuck social distancing". It's pretty devastating and stupid at the same time. I sincerely hope that people everywhere else aren't as stupid as these guys to attempt something like this.

Yea I wonder why and what is happening over there right now.
With all these conflicts in China they might split up eventually.

Luca - March 30, 2020, 5:19 am

Yo those guys look angry.

DarkKnight149 - March 30, 2020, 11:13 am

Anyone know what caused these riots?

Sigma - March 30, 2020, 2:03 pm

I wouldn't be surprised if riots start to occur in US from the lockdown.

Nork0i - March 31, 2020, 5:09 am

If it's just anger from being in lock down, that's really disappointing. A few months of sitting at home surely beats prematurely dying.

However, if they are rioting because the live animal markets have opened and people are still eating bat soup, I support them.

Kualifier - March 31, 2020, 10:09 am

Why are those riots happening over there?

mtepper2 - April 1, 2020, 8:02 am

The people in China really need to overthrow their government. They don't care about life and China literally ruined 2020 for the whole world because for some reason every country believed China??

Like they care enough to lock down a region out of kindness. Every country should of saw that as the first red flag.

Things just got a lot worse. There's footage showing crowds attack cops and overturn police vehicles on a bridge linking Wuhan to the capital of Hubei Province.

DrDoof - April 1, 2020, 10:36 am

Not surprising at all that people are pissed after being locked in their apartments for 2.5 months

Maskin - April 1, 2020, 11:48 am

Wow really? I get that they have reasons to leave Wuhan or Hubei but they should be happy that they are out of quarantine and just wait a few weeks or months...

James Dean - April 1, 2020, 9:37 pm

that shiiii be wild! That can stay over there.

BlackDarwin - April 1, 2020, 10:54 pm

Finally! This is the best thing I've seen in years!
