User attempted to scam.

opened up 2 contracts 1 of $300 for 600m osrs, another for $150 for 300M. Wanted me to send 1st once he realised i offered for him to go 1st and for even lower amounts he backed out once i asked him to show me the gold 1st before sending. He then claimed he had "lost" the account with the gold on.

Clearly here to scam all evidence in the chat logs if needed let me know :).

Nice try.

Hey Luca,

I have saved the chat from the messenger on here as a PDF. Can i upload that for proof?

Screenshot the raw chats, upload them to Imgur and attach them as an image. More trustworthy and simple to go through.

The last picture shows him commenting on a thread mentioning the price of OSRS gold, that is why i messaged him about the gold he never had :)

That is so sketch. You would at least expect him to have multiple accounts if he is selling OSRS gold. Swagman223 anything you want to add?

So how did you know it had the "600m" to start with? What would of happened if i was stupid enough to send the BTC?

Ive had that account for a year. Didn't use it for about a week as I don't play OSRS so I didn't think anything would have changed.

Obviously I would have refunded you if you had already sent the BTC.

Only one account? Seems like a horrible idea considering its your main income source.

Clearly here to scam, the thing is i have over 200+ offsite vouches and know how to avoid scams like this. I deal with gold everyday. Before i take any payment or buy gold i will check to make sure i have the "goods" before any deal. He was more than happy to let me send the BTC which i would of lost. He prob doesn't even have a Runescape account at all never mind $300 worth. I doubt he has seen $30 never mind the rest lmao. What a scam bag. He just looks a total idiot now..

Yeah scamming is your main income at the looks of it. Not today from me :) Just let that neg flow in for him guys thanks :)

I meant in the OSRS field. I've heard there's some good money to be made selling gold. Wouldn't you want to maybe transfer the gold to a different account owned by you or something to make it more secure?

He never had the gold in the 1st place.

No one got scammed? Contract disputes shouldn't be used for considered 'scam attempts'.
I believe you should instead open a community alert. Use a MM next time and cover the terms before opening a contract.

Scam = deal dispute

No scam = no deal dispute

You'll keep it open until it gets marked as invalid by admin.

Instead of wasting everyone's time here, close it and create community alert in Marketplace Discussions

If i was to close this. Does my B rating go back to 0 from where hes left me negative feedback? If not it can stay open :)

Your B-rating will stay the same, it's not related to the dispute.

I'm not sure if you're blind or smth else, but the contract should be disputed when someone is SCAMMED.

Are you scammed? No, you're not.

Close this.
