

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Frontend Developer for Charts - CSS, JS, API Required

Zee - March 30, 2020, 10:15 am

I am currently looking for an experienced frontend developer that have experience in specifically JS, and CSS. You need to have experience working with charts, and API's, as you will be creating styled charts. You do not need to have experience with backend coding, as that will be taken care of. You will be working on various pages that have to be visualized in a minimalistic, yet modern way. If this sounds like an interesting job offer, post or PM me your portfolio, your prices, and the estimated delivery time.

youlded - has1 - March 30, 2020, 12:13 pm

(Mar 30, 2020 10:15 AM)Zepro Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am currently looking for an experienced frontend developer that have experience in specifically HTML, JS, and CSS. You need to have experience working with charts, and API's, as you will be doing a lot of the visualized designs. You do not need to have experience with backend coding, as that will be taken care of. You will be working on various pages that have to be visualized in a minimalistic, yet modern way. If this sounds like an interesting job offer, post or PM me your portfolio, your prices, and the estimated delivery time.

Hi, I have lots of frontend and backend experience. My crypter website (crypter.now.sh) is made using react as frontend framework.

I have worked with javascript chart libraries in the past to create an admin dashboard that displays customer purchase data, so I have lots of experience with that.

For API usage, I have worked with plenty of APIs in the past, for example my crypter uses the scanlabs API to automatically scan all crypted files and then send me the scan results via the discord API to my private discord server.

I have also used the sendgrid API to send customer emails.

And of course my frontend is using my own JSON REST API to display its data.

You can reach me at my discord or PM me directly and we can discuss this job in more details.

Zee - March 30, 2020, 12:26 pm

(Mar 30, 2020 12:13 PM)youlded - has1 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hi, I have lots of frontend and backend experience. My crypter website (crypter.now.sh) is made using react as frontend framework.

I have worked with javascript chart libraries in the past to create an admin dashboard that displays customer purchase data, so I have lots of experience with that.

For API usage, I have worked with plenty of APIs in the past, for example my crypter uses the scanlabs API to automatically scan all crypted files and then send me the scan results via the discord API to my private discord server.

I have also used the sendgrid API to send customer emails.

And of course my frontend is using my own JSON REST API to display its data.

You can reach me at my discord or PM me directly and we can discuss this job in more details. I have sent you a PM.

If anyone else is interested as well, please send me your portfolio.

Zee - March 31, 2020, 12:53 pm

This position is now taken, thread closed.