Thread: Coronavirus Health Safety Countries Ranking

Zero - March 31, 2020, 1:52 am

Don't know how they measure this, also don't know if this is a reliable source but might take a look.
My country is in the safe list.

The fact that my country is not in any of these groups, makes me feel left out.

Sad to say that our country is one of the most risky country to stay :(

Bossk - March 31, 2020, 2:33 am

What is this based on..? Might give a twisted perspective if this is just some blogger's opinion of the situation.

Literally my first sentence.

Wolfblack - March 31, 2020, 2:37 am

thanks for the share.. following it....

Renestey - March 31, 2020, 2:39 am

Interesting stuff, USA is gonna climb that risky ladder quickly

Mr.Nobody - March 31, 2020, 2:39 am

Isreal my ass

I don't think number of infected = safe/not safe.

Not that I know how they measured it but I would include many other parameters.

Luca - March 31, 2020, 4:29 am

My country is not on any of these. Not sure if that's good or bad.

Xtreme™ - March 31, 2020, 4:51 am

My country is not mentioned on the list :)

And in the link that you provided, it's the least safe with a mindboggling score of 39.48! LoL
Anyway

Stay Home, Stay Safe!
Cheers!

(Mar 31, 2020 03:21 AM)M0HX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think it's based on the numbers of patients tested/recovered.

It's probably based on infected/death ratio.

Keep in mind that Germany has 67000+ confirmed cases and only 650 deaths which is less than 1% death rate.

France though has much lower number of confirmed cases, about 45000 as of now and 3000+ deaths.

This is why I believe Germany is safest country to be right now, simply because their hospitals were ready for the outbreak like this.

Zinx™ - March 31, 2020, 6:57 am

Damn I didn't expect to be in the top 10 just shows you hoe fucked the government is

Rsynced - March 31, 2020, 8:14 am

How does Hong Kong get listed as a safe place? This is bullshit.

When did they find patient Zero?

Pennywise - March 31, 2020, 9:26 am

Here in Canada it's pretty safe at the moment.

KING - March 31, 2020, 9:27 am

I think this is just a rough estimate without any authentic research behind it.

Dorrance - March 31, 2020, 9:28 am

I'm not liking how these stats keep going up and everyone is going outside more then staying in.

My country is on the safe list and we're almost at full lockdown. We can only order things and only some jobs are still working with a max of 30% people or max of 10. The bigger between the 2.

And also I guess the capacity of the country involve to overcome and treat their own people...the availability of medicines that can be used for treating the virus.

The Broker - April 1, 2020, 12:40 am

Wouldn't believe those numbers as many countries doesn't own as many tests as required to get their citizens tested.

Once America started testing they ranked at #1.
