AbduSako - April 2, 2020, 12:58 am

Hey guys.

Nice to hear that you are interested. This guide is about a new upcoming cryptocurrency. The coin is called PI. This is not a coin YET that's why you need to mine it now. When the coin get's on the market you cant mine it anymore. Monero did a similar thing and it is now worth $60 a coin. If this new crypto is worth a similar price you will be making around $60 an hour. It's mined by phone because it's cloud mining. Instead of mining it with hardware its a sophisticated airdrop where everything is done on the cloud.

If you register using my referral code i will +rep you: abduSako

If you want to start mining here is a code: abduSako . You will need this for the app.
(Most people don't see this and ask what is the invite code.)

If you have any question or so pm me.

How long have you been mining to earn such a great amount of coins?

I started mining Pi back in June of 2019. sadly I would have had more, but I stopped for a bit and others that I invited to join up were flaky at best at mining. I need to find others to join my team to get my numbers higher :p

Pi currently has no set value. that is another coin that is basically dead. The Pi coin that he is telling people about is in phase 2 and they are working on making an internal market to find the value of the coin. Phase 3 will go public and will be trade-able then.

Also Monero is currently valued at $57.61 - I see nothing wrong with his post.

there is something about this project that i don't understand can you mine PI coins with your PC ? Or only through the phone app ?

AbduSako - May 8, 2020, 5:54 pm

The main method of mining is through the phone but i think they are recently making it possible to do it with your computer as well.

To increase the rate in which you mine you will have to invite new members. I have 50+ invited members and i earn like 3 coins per hour.
