Put the autotune in the right key, pitch-correct some parts and you got a banger

I'll need the beat and vocals(dry) separated in WAV format. PM me this and I'll do some quickies.

During a national pandemic is the perfect time to promote your music.

I'm glad you're taking advantage of the situation.

Mixing and mastering could use a little work.

Flow needs a bit of work, and keep working on writing. I would pull back some of the autotune effects on the voice, it can be very difficult to understand at times and not in a way that really seems polished.

That's it for the criticism, that beat was kinda fire though. I also can definitely see the vision and like the direction I could see you going. There is a lot of positives and I think you have some talent and/or have put a lot of work into it already, keep it up!
