

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: My 6th thread design

SIM-1729678 - April 5, 2020, 5:22 am

So, this is I believe my 6th thread design ever. The last one I made was a few years ago. In the meantime I became more skilled with Photoshop and other programs, I just never made any thread designs at that time. So yeah, here it is. I wasn't paid for this btw, just made this for fun.

Here is my previous one (2017); <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5650663>

Spoiler (Click to View)

vyactor - April 5, 2020, 8:15 am

You had a good choice of font but you actually didn't properly used the font types to separate headers (which are to be focused) and paragraphs or other information. Italic font is making it look quite awful imo.

All the fonts being same size and bold in nature made it look like there are many things going on and could be irritating for people to go through it.

The reddish icon at top of the td doesn't seem to fit the header. With that being said, the service name also doesn't seem to fit. Maybe you could have made the icon a lot smaller and keep the service name at the middle.

The text below discord username container isn't bit visible and needs to be fixed.

On comparing your current design with the one you've linked (of 2017), the old one looks better in overall because of it being clean. Although you've tried to create a modern type of design this time but I guess you need few more practices and I'd say this isn't bad and I'd rate it as 6/10.

Good luck with getting into graphics.

flavoral - April 5, 2020, 8:20 am

For some reasons I don't like the drop-shadow effect as it feels weird in this design

SIM-1729678 - April 5, 2020, 8:21 am

(Apr 5, 2020 08:15 AM)vyactor Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You had a good choice of font but you actually didn't properly used the font types to separate headers (which are to be focused) and paragraphs or other information. Italic font is making it look quite awful imo.

All the fonts being same size and bold in nature made it look like there are many things going on and could be irritating for people to go through it.

The reddish icon at top of the td doesn't seem to fit the header. With that being said, the service name also doesn't seem to fit. Maybe you could have made the icon a lot smaller and keep the service name at the middle.

The text below discord username container isn't bit visible and needs to be fixed.

On comparing your current design with the one you've linked (of 2017), the old one looks better in overall because of it being clean. Although you've tried to create a modern type of design this time but I guess you need few more practices and I'd say this isn't bad and I'd rate it as 6/10.

Good luck with getting into graphics.

Hey man, thanks for the feedback. I am not really looking to get into graphics (again?), more doing this because I am really bored during this lockdown stuff.

For now, I am going to leave the design as is, I wasn't paid for it and I just made it for Omy for fun and giggles. Once again, I appreciate the feedback and if I ever make another design I will be sure to take it with me.

(Apr 5, 2020 08:20 AM)flavoral Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For some reasons I don't like the drop-shadow effect as it feels weird in this design

Where? on the text? on the background borders? or everywhere?

Luca - April 5, 2020, 2:09 pm

Looks very good. Much better than the one from 2017.

CEOBalance - April 5, 2020, 2:14 pm

Looks nice, definitely better than the other one. I would suggest if you're starting off to look at other's people work and try to reproduce it.

I think of a thread design basically as a landing page, look some up on Behance or something, looking nice though.

Nylon - April 15, 2020, 2:53 am amazing work! good job

0 0

Mr. Atlas - May 2, 2020, 4:29 am

It's clean I would think of you if I need it one day haha

Astrogen - May 2, 2020, 10:57 pm

Looks clean but I love the style on the 2017 version a lot more!

Jake Muller - May 8, 2020, 6:24 am

This is really clean. Good job and keep up the good work.