Is there someone that knows where in the onion browser i can buy some trusted rats with slaves?

I don't, but what i can advise you is to stay away from the dark web to do such silly purchases. You can find here on the forum plenty of paid and free RATs and I am pretty sure there is a service here where you can purchase installs. You can easily be scammed over the dark web however here you can dispute the seller if you made a valid contract.

99% of products on the darknet are scams. Don't waste your time and money with that.

not 99%...

99.9% of darknet products are a scam.

As other members mention, the darkweb can be a super sketchy place. It would probably help to read through the forums on HackForums under RAT topic. Do some reading on the threads and then some research on the OP to find out how legit and reliable their product is.
