Thread: BSV Hashrate Plummet as Miners jump to BTC after failed halving

BSV halving flopped alongside BCH. Resulting in hashrate dropping over -60%, as miners leave the whole network vulnerable to 51% attacks!

BSV doesn't even have 1/100th of the hashrate power of BTC.

I wonder what that dude holding BSV thinks about this

Don't think much goes through his mind, this is more for people who support the real Bitcoin network.

To be honest I don't even know why anyone should mine this coin in the first place. I am actually happy that miners are really switching.
