I was given a vouch copy of the web basic plan for a month by OP. I've been using it for a few days and I'm impressed by the performance, for the price. The speed is fairly good and everything seems to be going well so far. OP replied instantly and solved whatever issues I had, so good customer service as well.

Definitely great for the price. Going to use it for my personal project if things keep going well :)

Recommended.

We have spent several months planning the implementation of the BitNinja suite to bring a number of security and performance benefits to you, free of charge. As such, a number of changes are being implemented to bring you leading-edge protection to your sites.

Easy to begin, impossible to outgrow Introducing
Elastic Cloud
by VoxVM

The Elastic Cloud is a high availability solution, designed for larger sites/e-commerce due to the fact you have more resources available. It also offers high availability through a 'failover' / 'cluster' system.

With this, you receive cPanel access, so is simple to manage, and will be familiar with what you are used to already.

I need social media traffic exchange site anyone is there who can help with this

SIM-1895736 - December 2, 2020, 1:08 am

A couple of weeks ago we had decided to put some restrictions on email delivery. However, due to high demand, we had increased our sending limits from 75/h to 100/h for all accounts (excluding our Elastic Cloud plans, which hold larger limits as standard).

We are also proud to announce the incredibly well-refined JetBackup 5 release to our Elastic Cloud hosting plans. From our benchmarks so far, we have seen backup and restore performance increase by around 160%.

When JetBackup 5 is released to the stable tier, we will be rolling out even faster backups through an alternative S3 compatible provider to improve backup redundancy throughout all of our infrastructures.
