Thread: TV shows or Music? Pick one.

Dr. Einyel - April 16, 2020, 3:40 pm

Imagine that, for some stupid reason, we could only pick to enjoy TV shows (including movies, and everything on TV or Streaming services etc), OR music (never both) for the rest of our life.

What would you pick and why?

I believe I'd pick Music for sure. I can hear music all day without getting bored and there's a lot more variety than we have with TV shows/movies.

Clause - April 16, 2020, 3:40 pm

I listen to music close to everyday.

Music, definitely.

Scooby - April 16, 2020, 3:43 pm

TV/Movies. I listen to them more than music at work. I even have a whole bunch ripped to mp3 in my Google music library.

V?rt - April 16, 2020, 3:49 pm

I would almost say TV shows because I'm getting fairly bored with mainstream music, but I'll still pick music because there is still a good variety and it's continually growing.

Toosii - April 16, 2020, 3:49 pm

Music, I barely watch tv.. like barely ever

?ystem - April 16, 2020, 3:51 pm

My choice would definitely be music. I don't really watch television that much, especially don't care for most of what's being streaming because I'm honestly not amused. It just seems like recycled ideas or some terrible series that's "baed" on the original film. Whereas, with music, I listen to all sorts at all times of the day. My genuine happiest place is when I have my headphones in let me mind wander.

Drug Problems - April 16, 2020, 3:53 pm

That is easy for me, it would be music all the way.

I listen to music all day, while working, while playing games with friends and just browsing the internet. The only time I watch TV is when im going to sleep, so its always just background noise. If I do decide to watch something its a documentary. So I don't really watch TV shows much at all. They're all just boring and predictable, so I don't personally get enjoyment out of it myself.

Yin Yang - April 16, 2020, 4:07 pm

Would the movies have music in them lol?

But I'd probably go with TV shows/Movies

I'm gonna have to go TV on this one. I love music but I think of the 2 I'd use the TV more

SIM-3471851 - April 16, 2020, 5:15 pm

This is a difficult question. I can learn so much from TV shows and Movies + I find that more entertaining but music can heal my soul. So, i think i will choose Music.

Proceed - April 16, 2020, 5:23 pm

I've never been a huge TV show. I have a few select TV shows that I like to watch but I never really browse for any new TV shows to watch like I do with new music. So I'm going to go with music for sure.

Scooby - April 16, 2020, 5:28 pm

Man, I'd die if TV just stopped. I just finished Mr Robot. I still have 2 seasons of Veep to get through. The 2nd season of Succession, the 3rd season of West World, The whole series of The Sopranos.... Yeah, I missed that one the first time around but I'm a few episodes in and man is it enthralling.

I like music. I just am genuinely finding it hard to see things the way so many of you do. It's fascinating to me.

4dik - April 16, 2020, 5:31 pm

I rather listen to music than watch TV to be really honest! Not a huge fan of movies and TV shows

tuxed - April 16, 2020, 5:32 pm

I couldn't live without music. It's my form of meditation.

I often listen to music every now and then specially when I am here in front of my laptop and browsing the internet...it makes me feel so comfortable listening to some great music ???

de_g3ntl3m4n - April 16, 2020, 7:30 pm

Damn lowkey kinda of hard to choice tbh, but lately i have only been listing to music instead of watching movies or TV Shows so yeah idk man, music probably for me tbh

Silkroad - April 16, 2020, 7:33 pm

I agree man. I use msuic for everything as well. I do watch some Tv Shows time to time, but music hits my soul.

SaintJimmy - April 16, 2020, 10:23 pm

Both actually. My excuse? Some TV shows have the best music. Anyone who has watched the original Baywatch knows what I am talking about.

WRX - April 16, 2020, 10:26 pm

Does this include youtube? If so i choose tv if not I choose music.

Edit: Does music include podcasts?

humanbody - April 16, 2020, 10:30 pm

I'd pick music over TV shows.

While listen to your best music you can still be productive while watching your favorite tv show you can't be productive at the same time.

Since there are tons of genres you can pick to listen something according to your mood.

Luca - April 16, 2020, 10:37 pm

Music. I've spent 1000 hours on Spotify last year. I'm not really into TV shows. I'd rather watch YouTube.

ningjingdexiatian - April 17, 2020, 1:07 am

TV shows for now. Was into music awhile back but turned to the other side for trying and found it to be a decent comparable.

shitmaster - April 17, 2020, 4:41 am

I'd go for TV as much as I love music.

I can't look at hot scenes in music. Listening hot scenes doesn't really help.

So TV is a definite option.

Lol. TV shows/movies with no soundtrack/sound effects I guess.

Simplex - April 17, 2020, 4:47 pm

Music, I need it when I'm at work, gym, sleeping...etc

Photograph - April 17, 2020, 5:01 pm

TV shows, all day. Which would video podcasts fall under?

AX10M - April 17, 2020, 7:06 pm

Music definitely! There are TONS of great gems out there waiting to be digged. The same holds for movies but i the music universe is more vast and it also lets us do other things (working, house chores, reading, fucking, etc) while enjoying it.

Good choice. Music is everything.

James Burnham - April 18, 2020, 6:58 pm

Music ofc. The majority of tv shows are crappy plots with a lot of filler content to make them last 1 hour. I don't consider them art.

Aedan_ - April 18, 2020, 7:02 pm

Has to be music. I could not watch TV again and I'd be fine honestly. Music though...

I saw a post the other day on Instagram: 1v1 with prime Michael Jordan, 10 chances to score, if you score once you get $5 million and if you don't you can never listen to music again...I obviously decided not to take my chances ;P

Probably TV, though I almost don't care either way. I actually don't listen to a lot of music. I'll go through spurts where I do, though. Same with TV- I don't really go out of my way to watch movies or series. But if something comes out that grabs my eye, yeah, of course.

I'm choosing TV, though, because it's more engaging. I rarely listen to music in my truck- if I have the radio on, it's probably a podcast. Which leaves me with what I want for entertainment at home... and in that case, TV is at least fulfilling to have going on was I go to bed.
