Thread: Anyway to Dispute an "Expired" Contract

BT323 - April 18, 2020, 6:42 am

I'll start off by saying , I'm pretty new to HF so I think I messed up with a recent purchase I made in the market place using the contract system But :

I started a contract with the vendor, paid the fee and now seller is completely ignoring me and hasn't delivered what was promised.

When I went to check the contract it states "expired" so I guess there was another step to be accepted before actually making payment, so I guess that's my fault,

But my question is , Are we still able to open a dispute against this contract even though it's expired or at least put out a community alert about this vendor to avoid this happening to other members in the future.

I have all of the proof of payments and convo history etc ...

Would love to know.

Thx

You need to start or accept the contract, Sadly nothing anyone can do, Who was it though?
