Thread: Favorite Fast Food Place

Simplex - April 19, 2020, 5:13 pm

Hey all, with corona virus shutting down places one of the few things left is a nice quick bite.
I want to know what do you consider your favorite fast food place.
For me it's between two. I love Wendy's and Taco Bell.

Toosii - April 19, 2020, 5:15 pm

Literally hardly anywhere open in the UK sadly.

Oh wow, here in America the place with the highest amount of cases everything that is considered "essential" is still open. Even some questionable stores like Home Depot.

humanbody - April 19, 2020, 5:20 pm

We got a bunch of local ones open in here but they do only delivery in this situation but what I do right now is I go to the store, buy a bunch of meat, make burgers at home and buns, fill them with whatever I want and in 10 minutes I have burgers ready.

Gotta have that Chic-Fil-A and Wendy's. Little Caesars has been a quick in and out if that's considered fast food.

It is, but it's a bit of a coin toss. Some of them are pure garbage, and some are pure gems, even if they all look pretty similar ! You can have them either in a half bread, or a durum which is a turkish wrap. That's quite common in western EU

This is a real toss up for me. I'm just not a huge fast food person. I love eating out, don't get me wrong... and take-out rocks in general. But I'd rather a real meal, or at least something higher grade in general, than fast food. You can't beat the convenience though, that's for sure.

When I lived out west it was all about the In-n-Out Burger. If I was doing fast food, it was almost certainly that. But I'm a New Englander (and living back home now, fortunately) through and through, and I will still take Five Guys over In-n-Out.

I can't stand Taco Bell- you couldn't pay me to eat that garbage. If I want food that resembles Mexican quickly, I'd sooner take Chipotle. But I'm spoiled here, because I've always had access to authentic, delicious Mexican food trucks near where I work. It's uncanny how there's always one. And where I'm at now, it's genuinely very good. His burritos are to die for, and it's in your hands inside of 5 minutes.

Between the traditional McDonalds, Wendys, or Burger King, I'll take BK and Wendys over McDonalds. But that's really not saying much.

They do. They are hosting these 'Take Home' deliveries, being a part of the essential workers programme and are delivering throughout the city. As a matter of fact, I'm about to have a couple of sandwiches tonight and asking my roomie to bring them while he gets back. We've not decided yet but it's Monday and on a normal non-lockdown day we'd have ordered from outside.

When I was a Kid, BigMacs, but later, chicken burger is what I ask wherever I go.

Wow, I've never really liked their chicken sandwiches. I like their nuggets and I'll get the cheap 1$ chicken sandwich. But the expensive ones taste so dry to me.

Idk, here in Venezuela that's what I like the most from them. Chicken burger and their nuggets.

There's a veggie burger place about an hour away from me in the big city, and it is fugging amazing. I tell my wife I'm going to go live in the restaurant if they let me.

What are the prices?

Lynx - April 20, 2020, 12:03 am

We don't have a lot of different fastfood places here. I like kfc and mc donalds though.

Fairly reasonable, the burgers are massive, and they have an excellent selection.

Pretty solid choices.

The-Fluffy-Kitty - April 20, 2020, 12:16 am

Lately, I've been craving Taco Bell.

But, they really gotta make the crunchwrap supremes with flammin' hot cheetos a permanent menu option. smdh

Not a fan of the hot cheetos?

Nope :(I like good ol regular cheetos though. Favorite item from Tacobell would have to be the 7 layer.

Not a bad choice either. I would likely have just about anything fast food at this point though tbh.
Haven't had anything like that in over two months

I think in usd it's probably about $2.50 for a double 'hamburger' (veggie burger).

?ystem - April 20, 2020, 8:55 am

I really hate to say it but I'm going to have to go with McDonald's for at least right now. When trying to think of what I would be in the mood for, a McChicken and some of their fries popped into my head. Maybe a McFlurry, Reese's of course. Although I honestly try to stay away from fast food if I can on account of how terrible it is for you, much preferring to prepare and cook meals at home.

V?rt - April 20, 2020, 9:00 am

That's a tough one, but I would have to say it's a close race between Wendy's, Popeyes, or Taco Bell. It all depends on what I'm in the mood for really.

4dik - April 20, 2020, 9:24 am

Chipotle is my shit! I got there way to much and spend way to much money as well there. I think last month I spent $200 dollars there haha

I normally get bowl with double white rice, chicken and steak, roasted corn, pico de galo, sour cream, cheese, and the red hot sauce

Or i was getting the nadeshot bowl for a little

Oh nice be sure to remember that if you order on the app you get 3 free customization's that really help out.

Here is what I get.

Steak Burrito Bowl, white rice(Extra), black beans(Extra), Guac, Fresh Tomato Salad, Sour Cream(Extra), Cheese. I usually dip in my own chips. Not a fan of theirs to salty.

That sounds about what I get without the beans haha! I used to love guac but now I just can't stand it for some reason!

And thanks I never knew that!

Instagram - April 20, 2020, 11:27 am

Love me some Taco Bell or McDonalds right now. Haven't been eating that but for a quick bite, those places.

Mixing the Mild and Fire sauce together is the best I highly recommend giving it a try

We got a bunch of local ones open in here but they do only delivery in this situation but what I do right now is I go to the store, buy a bunch of meat, make burgers at home and buns, fill them with whatever I want and in 10 minutes I have burgers ready.

diablospartan - February 24, 2023, 7:31 am

Kfc the chicken wings and also mcdonalds

bobby187 - February 24, 2023, 9:24 am

In and out burger. best in my opinion.
