" WW2 In colour " on netflix provides for an accurate depiction of the events that occurred in WW2 (of course according to historic events but there are various/alternative ideas as to what occurred in certain events). Id recommend watching it for sure, its extremely interesting and a genuine shocker to know that this actually occurred on the same world we live in. Funny how far we've come in such a short amount of time

Defiance is one of the rather good ones I've watched. Daniel Craig is a part of the cast. It's about four brothers joining Russian resistance fighters in the Eastern-European woods, slowly building camps of Jewish refugees.

Black Book is another good one about a jewish singer goes undercover for the Dutch resistance in order to infiltrate the Nazi headquarters in Netherlands. And The Dirty Dozen is just another epic addition. I loved that movie. It's about a rag-tag group of convicts bind together for a suicide mission on the eve of D-Day.

Are you looking for like, fiction movies, or documentaries?

'Enemy At The Gates' is quite good. 'Dunkirk' is brilliant. 'Das Boot', 'Inglorious Bastards', 'Tora Tora Tora', 'Saving Private Ryan', the list is pretty much endless.

I second Band of Brothers. Watched it in school and it got me into the series.

From the myriads of the suggestions, you may wish to give the following a go:The Pianist

The boy in the stripped pajamas

The bridge over the river kawai

1917

Dunkirk, Saving Private Ryan, 1917, Hacksaw Ridge, Inglorious Basterds, also the Imitation Game if you want a part of the WW2 war (real story) about a math genius.

These are my favourites.

Defiance

FURY

Inglorious Basterds

Downfall

Saving Private Ryan

Dunkirk
