Thread: Favourite TV show /series

Velma - April 20, 2020, 1:24 pm

I will start with my 2 favourite shows.

1. Money Heist
2. Mr Robot.

What is your favourite leave a comment.

Even though i've paid for Netflix for 2 years in a row already, I haven't watched many series yet lol. I just can't motivate myself to watch one. I mean, I've probably watched +/- 25 movies in my entire life lol.

Anyway, for the series I did watch, here's my list.

1. Breaking Bad
2. Money Heist / La Casa De Papel
3. Criminal Minds (TV, haven't seen every episode though - Can't watch on Netflix in the Netherlands)
4. 13 Reasons Why
5. Prison Break (Watched this twice lol.)

Nice selection i am never bothered to watch shows but i have managed to watch Mr Robot and Money heist and they are by far my favourite i have tried watching other things but i can get into it like these two dont know why.

GG123 - April 20, 2020, 3:09 pm

The only show ive ever actually thoroughly enjoyed is prison break, ive seen it about 5 times over and would make that 6 but honestly at this point I know everything to its individual detail so theres no point. Trust me watch prison break, it will not disappoint!

Narcos
Narcos is good which version did you watch tho.

SaintJimmy - April 21, 2020, 7:30 am

All time favorite would have to be Prison Break. It's one of a kind. It's the kind of addiction which makes you rewatch thrice before the revival. Some other preferences:

House of Cards
Money Heist
Breaking Bad
Game of Thrones
13 Reasons Why
You
Ozark

Oh man, I can't just pick one but basically what comes to my mind are:

White Collar
Breaking Bad
Banshee
Sense8
You
Vikings
Lie to me

Aedan_ - April 21, 2020, 9:20 am

Money Heist is a great pick. I have so many favorites, but one I hear talked about very minimally here is How To Get Away With Murder. Fantastic ABC production that is still being produced, 3 episodes left before the series finale. I'd recommend anyone who's interested in crime/love to watch it.

How good is Dexter? Is it worth watching?

Sick - April 21, 2020, 11:04 am

I always seem to forget about a very good series that i think is just brilliant
I'm sure there is 7 seasons of that now and well worth the watch

Peaky Blinders

Out of the ones which are currently on air, hands down La Casa De Papel and Stranger Things.

Some notable mentions which are off air now:

Breaking Bad
Prison Break
GoT
Silicon Valley
Vikings (loved the first few seasons but now it's meh)

I also love Seinfeld and The Office for their rewatch value. I am always playing one of these two shows when I am running errands around the house.

IGN published today that there will be a game based off the show.

Hyllgoeswild - May 2, 2020, 12:24 am

My favourite is Prison Break.

The second is probably The Originals.

Kant Atta - May 2, 2020, 12:29 am

I'm a huge fan of Mr. Robot, so it currently holds my #1 spot.

Here's a list of some of my other favorite shows:

- Breaking Bad
- Narcos
- Narcos: Mexico
- Black Mirror
- Lilyhammer
- Game of Thrones (except the ending)
- The Office (U.S of course)
- Archer
- Family Guy
- South Park
- Futurama

You mean besides my own TV show? That is difficult. On what merits should I base this decision, I wonder. Should I pick the show I have watched the most times, the show I think is written and filmed the best, my guiltiest pleasure, or my favorite episode of television? Tough call, but I'm going to go with Celebrity Deathmatch for one simple reason; the idea at its core is flawless. A claymation parody of wrestling matches to the death starting our favorite idiots from pop culture? Sign me up!

Ah, now with that qualifier you will receive a different answer entirely. For pure rewatch value, you can't beat Arrested Development. I'm only referring to the original run of 3 seasons, though. Time and time again, when my lady are trying to decide what to watch and can't agree, we'll put on Arrested Development. It also has what we consider to be the best episode of television, period; Ready, Aim, Marry Me! It's so amazing and full of quotable moments.
