

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Looking backup disaster recovery solutions

pisicei - April 24, 2020, 11:16 pm

Hello , i have 5 computers and 3 servers , i want a good solution for backup , cloud, raid . prefer cheap or free.:d
for raid i have around 20tb storage (20x 1tb hard)
any solution are welcome .

thank you a lot

Blazin - April 24, 2020, 11:32 pm

(Apr 24, 2020 11:16 PM)pisicei Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello , i have 5 computers and 3 servers , i want a good solution for backup , cloud, raid . prefer cheap or free.:d
for raid i have around 20tb storage (20x 1tb hard)
any solution are welcome .

thank you a lot

Hey there,

Acronis has some good image backup and restoring and cloning and backup software that would be ideal and work for this. I know there is others out there.

pisicei - April 25, 2020, 12:00 am i use acronis now and veeam the free solutions , bit both dont allow me remote .

anytime i need have some some storage at me all time.

maybe you can help me with some good Hard Disk good for backup , i see more reviews with some Hard Disk but this after a while it breaks crap.

like this : Seagate Backup Plus HUB 10TB, USB 3.0

Bastille - April 25, 2020, 12:20 am

Can you be more explicit please ? And make some efforts regarding your English ?

You need to remotely access your data ?

How much storage do you need ?

The Seagate Backup Plus HUB 10TB is a basic HDD

pisicei - April 25, 2020, 12:32 am

i need do backup from all computers every week, but i don't want be in office all time , i want do from outside from home, example.

i have 20x 1tb hard`s from WD and samsung. i read and see are some hardware are special for backup this can broke fast , rate of transfer is high etc.

i use acronis now and veeam the free solutions , but both don't allow me rdo the backup remote . i need be in office connect the external hard to can do this.

need be something cheap to have this solution for backup disaster recovery

