Thread: Any metalcore / progessive metal fans?

bawrrrski - May 2, 2020, 9:25 pm

I've been listening to metal/metalcore since ~2002 (Starting with All that Remains, Killswitch Engage, Between the Buried and Me, etc.) And of course prior to (and in tandem) punk rock such as Blink-182, Greenday, etc.

Some of my top go-to bands:

- August Burns Red
- Invent, Animate
- Make Them Suffer
- As I Lay Dying
- ERRA
- Parkway Drive
- The Ghost Inside
- Miss May I
- After The Burial (R.I.P. Justin Lowe)
- Crystal Lake
- Architects
- Fit For A King
- Volumes (R.I.P. Diego Farias)
- Polaris
- Breakdown of Sanity

And some of my favorite songs currently: (Links to YouTube videos - I did not use video tags to avoid clutter)

After The Burial - Laurentian Ghosts

Volumes - Feels Good

Invent, Animate - Vacant

August Burns Red - Composure

The Ghost Inside - Aftermath

Share some of your favorites. Hopefully I've introduced you to some new music and would love to hear some more from you guys!

I'm a huge fan of Beartooth - In Between is an awesome song and pretty sure one of their most popular songs

2014 I Prevail is my favorite. Heart Vs. Mind is a sick album (Love, Lust, And Liars is one of my favorites)

You forgot to mention the greatest band of all time, Linkin Park

I mean, I like Tool a lot. I honestly don't know too many other prog bands.

You've got to be trolling.
