Thread: Where are all the UK ewhorers?

Roberto Scorpius Malfoy - May 3, 2020, 7:42 am

I have been trying to find someone selling UK agc for a few days now without any luck.

How does it work when you guys Ewhore? If you are from the UK do you only Ewhore UK agc? and if you are from the states only .com cards?

If that is the case then it means that a lot of UK ewhorers have either stopped ewhoring or just quit selling in HF.

I have stopped selling in HF, rates are too big:/

what do you mean man?

Im just telling you there are other ways to sell your AGC than exchanging with talking to people and doing deals with risk involved.

Nah you told me rates are too big and I asked you what you mean by that? Like do you get better rates there?

Then from nowhere, you started to say that by exchanging somewhere else you skip talking to people.

So make your decision is it because you are too lazy to talk to people are is it because you make more money somewhere else?

(Most of the people are not scammers here if you know who you are going to deal with you won't be scammed.)

I am exchanging to 10-5% percent only loss. Also, no risk since you dont have to do with random people... so both.

Lol, I am a psychopath probably because of that post yeah. yikes?

Okay, that explains why you don't sell anymore, I called you out for being a psycho because you wrote like a weirdo.

Sad to see you still didn't buy AGC's :c but from my experience, it was always easier to buy AGC.com than UK/DE.

Been buying from you for 2 years back, you have stopped selling as well.

Most of my "customers" currently come from Germany, AGC.de I sell for 80% of the value. If I have a UK customer, I take payment with PayPal, so I get ~85-90% of the value at BTC.

Another thing is that I "work" as an ewhore much less than I used to.
