Thread: How do you like your steak cooked

4dik - May 3, 2020, 1:03 pm

I love my steak cooked medium rare! like it Just the right texture and the right amount of juice that stays in the steak

??¢??? - May 3, 2020, 1:06 pm

Medium rare for me too. I used to be a vegetarian, now i look back and laugh at my self rare thats about to tip into medium rare. keeps most of the juices, keeps the meat fibers nice and tender but you still get the chew of mid rare steaks courtesy of the crust. all the beefy flavor pops as well.

now you are making me hungry.

I am also a medium-rare steak guy.

VIXV - May 3, 2020, 1:08 pm

Medium rare, anything cooked more than that is psycho territory.

Free Kurdistan - May 3, 2020, 1:12 pm

I'm a well done kind of guy, I don't like my meat alive unless it's my woman.

Weddy - May 3, 2020, 1:13 pm

I'm also in the medium gang.

Nothing else is better

MrJamesDean - May 3, 2020, 1:13 pm

Medium rare, or as close to rare without being fully rare. I love the texture!

KinGxKeV - May 3, 2020, 1:17 pm

Medium rare, the most I can handle is medium. Any higher and I won't eat it.

Bob White - May 3, 2020, 1:20 pm

Medium rare. Anything beyond that is disrespecting the steak itself. I need that tender slice each bite, accompanied by some A-1 and a good glass of red wine.

Ravioli - May 3, 2020, 1:22 pm

Medium-rare is also my favorite way to cook steak.

Yin Yang - May 3, 2020, 1:23 pm

I'm with everyone as well, medium-rare

Beherit - May 3, 2020, 1:23 pm

Bloody as hell and my shake Martin n' Lewis.

SIM-3587630 - May 3, 2020, 1:29 pm

I join the medium rare train, juicy af.

4dik - May 3, 2020, 1:30 pm

Damn not gonna lie I didn't except so many medium rare haha

Sprinkle - May 3, 2020, 1:31 pm

I understand I might get railed by a lot of steak lovers, but I prefer mine Medium-Well, if not well done. However, I will eat a steak all the way down to Medium-Rare; rare is just pushing it for me

Medium rare hands down too.

yum makes me want some

Pow3r - May 3, 2020, 1:52 pm

Medium rare for me. I like to have it melt in the mouth and really get the full flavour. God this has made me hungry now.

Ultras - May 3, 2020, 2:01 pm

Medium rare when I make it myself and medium when I eat out

The Don - May 3, 2020, 2:02 pm

I prefer medium-rare, although at times I have enjoyed a well-done steak (oddly so).

RIP Juice WRLD - May 3, 2020, 2:03 pm

Raw is what I usually go with.

Demize - May 3, 2020, 2:04 pm

Medium rare all day long.

Meow - May 3, 2020, 2:05 pm

Medium rare for sure, well done doesn't have any taste.

I feel like I'm chewing a bubble gum.

Medium rare is the only way it should be! I know some people who enjoy it well done.

I do enjoy rare from time to time also, do you have a particular cut?

Jay - May 3, 2020, 4:23 pm

Medium Rare / Rare is the only way to eat steak.

Sick - May 3, 2020, 4:25 pm

It has to be kinda medium to rare but not too much blood and lots of fries and onion rings and mushrooms perfect

I second this. Medium rare is the only way

hayesh - May 3, 2020, 5:00 pm

between medium rare and well done

?nxy - May 3, 2020, 5:00 pm

Whatever tastes good to you

Mr.Nobody - May 3, 2020, 5:31 pm

I like it well done.

Don't like to see that red blood.

Anyone who doesn't have theirs medium has issues. Don't know how anyone can eat it well done.

Squanchy - May 3, 2020, 8:44 pm

Just like you, I like my steak cooked medium-rare.

Present - May 3, 2020, 11:26 pm

I'm going to go against the grain and say medium well or well done.

I'm on the medium well boat. I'll eat well done if that's what's given to me. Does that lighten the sickness?

Slightly but I still recommend a mental health check

Renestey - May 3, 2020, 11:40 pm

I agree with medium rare, well done is just too much and rare is a no-go for me with all that blood
still coming out of the steak

Medium rare*

I'm straight up having withdrawals of going to the local pub and getting a steak and a jug for lunch

SIM-1349466 - May 3, 2020, 11:59 pm

Medium is perfect for me. I will say, i'd rather it be medium well than medium rare because I can't bring myself to eating raw-ish looking meat.

Medium rare is the only medium I know
bring me some too

chunkymilk - May 4, 2020, 12:14 am

Honestly depends on the part of the cow, for the most parts, I'll usually cook it medium-rare.
Meaning like, sirloin, tenderloin, ribeye. Other that I go for well-done.

Too bad that's at least 6 months away here :(

Ombra - May 4, 2020, 12:35 am

I usually go for medium or full, but there are particular pieces of steak that should be cooked bloody.
If that's the case I may ask for bloody rare.

SIM-3257834 - May 4, 2020, 12:55 am medium-well cause I'm a egirl and red meat is spooky.

SaintJimmy - May 4, 2020, 1:43 am

It depends on the cut of meat and the quality of the preparation. I like a tender cut of meat served rare. But I do not like rare tougher cuts. So a ribeye gets served rare, flank or skirt medium or medium rare. At home or at a nicer restaurant I will choose a rarer steak. If the restaurant is on the dicier side, I will go with medium just to limit exposure to food borne illness.

Hero - May 4, 2020, 2:46 am

I love it well done. Can't be bothered to eat chewing gum like steak like medium rare.

Givenchy - May 4, 2020, 2:53 am

Not gonna lie everyone like medium rare apparently haha! I thought most people like medium and rare. I'm like the odd person out in my family cause no one likes medium rare haha shitmaster - May 4, 2020, 5:00 am

Same. I like it medium rare too. It's just the right amount of juice in each and every bite. Especially the center. Amazing.
