Thread: Oh boy, it's spider season again!

Lindros - May 5, 2020, 11:05 pm

I don't know if any of you saw my other thread about some spiders that were in my room I think last year, I don't remember...

Anyway, in the past couple of days I have killed maybe like 6 spiders in my room, all various sizes. These little assholes are getting into my room somehow and my room only. I don't see them anywhere else in this damned house. Fucking little terrorists are using my room as some sort of orgy meeting space.

Just a minute ago there was a big spider slowly making his way on my wall to my dresser and I was in the middle of a NHL 20 match so I couldn't kill him. Not only did I lose that match in overtime after being up 3-0 in the third but when the match was over the spider had dissappeared.

I don't know about you but I am pretty fucking pissed tonight. Not only that but my fucking bitch math teacher didn't cut us slack on the final because her garbage ass teaching didn't transition well to online. I have A's in everything else and I am 2% shy of the the 73% required. JUST FUCKING MATRICULATE ME.

/end rant

Nothing is worse than thinking a spider is crawling on you or has the potential of surfacing at any moment. I'd set bombs of daily

Burn the house , run and don't look back.

Astrogen - May 6, 2020, 12:50 am

Spider season here is people betting on spider fights.

You kill spiders ??? why lol. They clean up your house for you in a natural way. I trap them under a glass and squeeze in a paper sheet then throw em out the window.

Oh no, there were a few that I actually caught and let go.

But yeah I did kill like 6. They shouldn't be in my damn room. There are almost never bugs in my room so wtf do they want? Like I said they are never anywhere else in the damned house.

Spiders are little fuckers, if you read my last thread you will know why I just kill them. The last time I didn't kill two on my ceiling and went to sleep I woke up with both of them on my bed (one of them dead right next to me) like wtf lol. They must have just decided to rope down and join me on my bed, but they weren't even over my bed when I went to sleep.

I did let one dude live because he spotted me and stayed in the corner of the ceiling for a whole day and night. I spotted him on the floor the next day, caught him and let him go.

I figure it is evolution if I just deem certain ones worthy of existence or not.

I remember when this shit went viral in 2016-2017 range. People lost their shit and vowed never to eat a banana again lmfao

I'm not particularly afraid of them. I don't know every time I see them I get like a curiosity like a cat and I watch them and kind of hunt them in a way.

It's just their fast, twitchy movement kind of startles me. Every damn time.

The real enemy is flying cockroaches but no one wants to talk about that.

One time a fairly large jumping spider survived a 30 mile drive on the freeway on the roof of my car. Jumping spiders are incredible things. It gave me this curious look too when I got out of the car and was amazed he was still there.

I had to stay back because I'm certain the dude woulda jumped on me.

Haha, I just imagine a spider on top of a car going 80 mph screaming "STOP! STOOOOP! LUNATIC!"

Yeah man I drive that fast too. I'm surprised he stuck to the car. He even walked a bit if I remember correctly. I remember seeing him on the sunroof window for part of the journey.

On the other hand

More spiders fewer flies and mosquitoes

I honestly cannot stand spiders. It's the one fear I have that I will full admit to being a pussy about. I will panic something chronic if I seen one until it's dead.
