

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What is your highest level of education?

Stepdad - May 6, 2020, 6:19 pm

I am currently working on my Bachelors in Computer Science. Curious as to the education levels of those here at HackForums.

Might drop out to pursue my career in eBook sales though.

Toosii - May 6, 2020, 6:20 pm

None, I'm a dumbass but I'm financially stable for now so it's okay I guess, for now.

hfrocket1713 - May 6, 2020, 6:21 pm

I graduate with a bachelors in Finance and minor in economics next year. but I already make good money. I just did it to make my mom happy and also cuz college was lit.

SIM-3257834 - May 6, 2020, 6:22 pm

Some college credits, close to get an AAS but need some more time.

Lavish Living - May 6, 2020, 6:24 pm

graduated in dec 2018 with a bachelors in mathematics education graduate in a week with a teaching credential

so, my highest level is a year of graduate school

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:24 pm

I'm just another highschool drop out success story.

Swip3r - May 6, 2020, 6:24 pm

Dropped out of HS and got my Diploma 2 years earlier through a night-school program.

Das it.

(May 6, 2020 06:24 PM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm just another highschool drop out success story.

ayeeeeeeee

Stepdad - May 6, 2020, 6:25 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:24 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) graduated in dec 2018 with a bachelors in mathematics education
graduate in a week with a teaching credential

so, my highest level is a year of graduate school

Yo congratulations, that's awesome. Do you have a job lined up already?

Lavish Living - May 6, 2020, 6:25 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:25 PM)Moms Boyfriend Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yo congratulations, that's awesome. Do you have a job lined up already?

nah covid19 has backed up all the school districts hiring process

Stepdad - May 6, 2020, 6:26 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:25 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) nah covid19 has backed up all the school districts hiring process

Gotta love it. Best of luck with that shit

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:27 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:25 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) nah covid19 has backed up all the school districts hiring process

So all those times you told people you were a teacher and that's where your money came from you were lying, I mean we all knew that anyway but this confirms it.

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 6:31 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:30 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I spent the past 9 months in a teaching credential program where I was the lead teacher of 3 math classes, can I not classify as a teacher?

and when did I ever say I make money from teaching? lol I said I am a teacher which implies I will never earn more than $100k/yr max, ie I am not going into my profession for money.

Go play pokemon you ignorant piece of Clay Davis.

If you're really a math teacher what is the square root of 1337?

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:31 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:30 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I spent the past 9 months in a teaching credential program where I was the lead teacher of 3 math classes, can I not classify as a teacher?

and when did I ever say I make money from teaching? lol I said I am a teacher which implies I will never earn more than $100k/yr max, ie I am not going into my profession for money.

Go play pokemon you ignorant piece of Clay Davis.

The thread u first mentioned being a teacher to me is where you mentioned it was your income.

And no if you're not a paid teacher with a position or active sub jobs then no you're not a teacher, you don't become a surgeon the first time you cut open an animal in the lab.

"you ignorant piece of shit"

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 6:34 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:27 PM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So all those times you told people you were a teacher and that's where your money came from you were lying, I mean we all knew that anyway but this confirms it.

Well this and let's not forget that he made a thread some months ago maybe over a year that he needed help creating some account because he couldn't verify it due to not being over 18 or something like that.

I'm sure he'll quote this and elaborate lol.

Kant Atta - May 6, 2020, 6:34 pm

I've only been in the public schooling system for about 3 years. I then entered an adult education program at the age of 20, and earned my high school equivalency 6 months later (lots of exemptions). I'm heading off to college in September to get an Advanced Diploma as a Computer Programmer/Analyst, and will then (hopefully) head off to Ireland to turn that into a Bachelor of Science (Honours).

IPIKIN - May 6, 2020, 6:35 pm

Year 10 lol, school is for fools

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:35 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:34 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well this and let's not forget that he made a thread some months ago maybe over a year that he needed help creating some account because he couldn't verify it due to not being over 18 or something like that.

I'm sure he'll quote this and elaborate lol.

Yeah, I was saving that one for his retort, but he doesn't even know the real value of his own awards. Hardly a math teacher

Scooby - May 6, 2020, 6:36 pm

I have one B.S. in Management and one in Marketing. I dropped out of grad school.

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:38 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:35 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) lol.

the LEAD teacher.

if you asked the students who their teacher was, they'd say me. I planned, taught, assessed, and reflected for the past 9 months of their instruction. Can't compare that to learning how to cut skin in the lab. Idiot.

I NEVER claimed teaching was my income. You must have misinterpreted my posts because you're clearly an incompetent.

That's called prac you know practical learning, it's literally the exact same concept developed to yield the exact same results.

But it's fine judging by the fact you couldn't receive something due to being underage in 2018 from threads u posted here there's no way you could be a teacher anyway, I don't know what you gain out of lying but to each their own.

Also if you're a teacher shouldn't you know how to spell properly? especially when you imply someone is incompetent straight after your spelling mistake.

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 6:39 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:36 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) what? lol. I'm 22. You talking about the juul shipment? 2 years ago? Where you had to be 21 and I was only 20/

Like I said I have no idea what the thread was exactly about, all I knew was that you made some post about how you needed help getting something due to not being old enough and/or an adult.

Also 22 is VERY young for a math teacher. Possible sure, but extremely young.

Youngest teacher I had was about 28-32 and he taught History, which is a subject that's much more understandable to have a younger teacher.

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:42 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:39 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Like I said I have no idea what the thread was exactly about, all I knew was that you made some post about how you needed help getting something due to not being old enough and/or an adult.

Also 22 is VERY young for a math teacher. Possible sure, but extremely young.

Youngest teacher I had was about 28-32 and he taught History, which is a subject that's much more understandable to have a younger teacher.

Na man trust him the math adds up (clearly doesn't) even if he was that age judging by when he graduated and now unless he started school somehow at the end the year directly after high school?

Stepdad - May 6, 2020, 6:45 pm

It's really not that unbelievable that at 22 someone is a student teacher after completing a 4-yr degree. I'm not sure why everyone is jumping in your ass Lavish Living lol

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 6:46 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:42 PM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Na man trust him the math adds up (clearly doesn't) even if he was that age judging by when he graduated and now unless he started school somehow at the end the year directly after high school?

It honestly sounds like he may have been an assistant teacher or otherwise known as a student teacher?

We had those in my school, they'd go to certain classes to help teach either kids who had problems learning or kids who had behavioral issues. They were still considered "teachers" however no one ever called them "Mr." or "Mrs." so and so, they were addressed by their first names.

Lavish Living Could this be what you did by chance? It honestly sounds like it given your age. I just have never heard of a math teacher finishing school AND acquiring a teaching position that soon after. 22 is just soo young when it comes to teaching a subject like math.

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:46 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:44 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes I am a teacher, practically. Just unpaid. That's why it's classified as a "student teacher".

Please link me the thread. I was 20/21 in 2018. Lol. I am willing to bet you any amount of money that I have been the lead teacher of 3 high school math classes since September.

I am a math teacher, not an english one. I misspell math vocab all the time, makes for a nice joke and relatable to the students.

Please link me the thread. Only thing that rings a bell is the juul, when I was 20, 2 years ago not a few months ago. I don't even recall making a thread about it tbh but maybe I did.

lol subject is so irrelevant in terms of teaching? what does that even mean lmao.

graduated highschool in may 2015. graduated college in 7 semesters. took a semester off and worked in my local poker room casino. Started the credential program in September 2019.

There are multiple threads your age differs it's not up to us to dig through your old scam reports threads and posts, when you show HF your certificate and you've got a full time job then you can call yourself a teacher and prove us wrong, but until then you'll continue to be the compulsive liar you've painted yourself as over HF.

Now lets stop derailing OPS thread i'm sure you're embarrassed enough.

(May 6, 2020 06:46 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It honestly sounds like he may have been an assistant teacher or otherwise known as a student teacher?

We had those in my school, they'd go to certain classes to help teach either kids who had problems learning or kids who had behavioral issues. They were still considered "teachers" however no one ever called them "Mr." or "Mrs." so and so, they were addressed by their first names.

Lavish Living Could this be what you did by chance? It honestly sounds like it given your age. I just have never heard of a math teacher finishing school AND acquiring a teaching position that soon after. 22 is just soo young when it comes to teaching a subject like math.

Could be, we had those to they went to misbehaved classes or ones with disabled children mostly. I literally recall half of them sleeping 90% of the time and they need bare minimum requirements i wouldn't even consider them support teachers.

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 6:56 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:55 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was technically a student teacher, but like I said I was the students' lead teacher. My mentor teacher did not grade or teach at all in 2020 in any of the 3 classes, even though she was getting paid for them. Thank you though, it has been a nice 5 year journey but it'll be nice in August when I finally get paid for my hard work.

sure, I'll post a thread rn for you. Like I said, I get my actual credential in a week I'll post a thread then but for now I know something that will shut you up lmao.

Glad my opinion means so much to you, I'll await the relevant thread to discuss this.

PublicEnemy. - May 6, 2020, 7:02 pm

Currently in high school but want to go to post secondary as it opens many doors later in life.

SIM-3471851 - May 6, 2020, 7:03 pm

First year Bachelor , Informatics. I might drop out at the end of the year.

Nuworld - May 6, 2020, 7:06 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:35 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) lol.

the LEAD teacher.

if you asked the students who their teacher was, they'd say me. I planned, taught, assessed, and reflected for the past 9 months of their instruction. Can't compare that to learning how to cut skin in the lab. Idiot.

I NEVER claimed teaching was my income. You must have misinterpreted my posts because you're clearly an incompetent.

(May 6, 2020 06:35 PM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, I was saving that one for his retort, but he doesn't even know the real value of his own awards. Hardly a math teacher

(May 6, 2020 06:36 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) what? lol. I'm 22. You talking about the juul shipment? 2 years ago? Where you had to be 21 and I was only 20/

(May 6, 2020 06:38 PM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's called prac you know practical learning, it's literally the exact same concept developed to yield the exact same results.

But it's fine judging by the fact you couldn't receive something due to being underage in 2018 from threads u posted here there's no way you could be a teacher anyway, I don't know what you gain out of lying but to each their own.

Also if you're a teacher shouldn't you know how to spell properly? especially when you imply someone is incompetent straight after your spelling mistake.

(May 6, 2020 06:39 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Like I said I have no idea what the thread was exactly about, all I knew was that you made some post about how you needed help getting something due to not being old enough and/or an adult.

Also 22 is VERY young for a math teacher. Possible sure, but extremely young.
Youngest teacher I had was about 28-32 and he taught History, which is a subject that's much more understandable to have a younger teacher.
(May 6, 2020 06:44 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes I am a teacher, practically. Just unpaid. That's why it's classified as a "student teacher".

Please link me the thread. I was 20/21 in 2018. Lol. I am willing to bet you any amount of money that I have been the lead teacher of 3 high school math classes since September.

I am a math teacher, not an english one. I misspell math vocab all the time, makes for a nice joke and relatable to the students.

Please link me the thread. Only thing that rings a bell is the juul, when I was 20, 2 years ago not a few months ago. I don't even recall making a thread about it tbh but maybe I did.

lol subject is so irrelevant in terms of teaching? what does that even mean lmao.

graduated highschool in may 2015. graduated college in 7 semesters. took a semester off and worked in my local poker room casino. Started the credential program in September 2019.

(May 6, 2020 06:46 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It honestly sounds like he may have been an assistant teacher or otherwise known as a student teacher?

We had those in my school, they'd go to certain classes to help teach either kids who had problems learning or kids who had behavioral issues. They were still considered "teachers" however no one ever called them "Mr." or "Mrs." so and so, they were addressed by their first names.

Lavish Living Could this be what you did by chance? It honestly sounds like it given your age. I just have never heard of a math teacher finishing school AND acquiring a teaching position that soon after. 22 is just soo young when it comes to teaching a subject like math.
As much as i don't like Ash, However he has brought up so good points.
looking like Lavish is backed up in the corner.

The funny thing is as others have said, The "Math" don't add up.

21-22 as a teacher? i don't think so.
What we are witnessing here is a pipe dream of something that never happened.
It's only a dream that once he wakes up?
Is when reality hits.
Been there done it.

OH! BTW: I went to school to fly military planes. (Remember that one)

Nuworld - May 6, 2020, 7:11 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:08 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Another one of my haters ???

view my thread in education nation for some proof. Thanks
Trust me i have as with everyone else read your threads.
I see all and read everything on this forum.
doesn't change the facts.

Lavish Living - May 6, 2020, 7:16 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:11 PM)Nuworld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Trust me i have as with everyone else read your threads.

I see all and read everything on this forum.

doesn't change the facts.

Yes because facts are facts. Lol. Everything I've claimed in this thread is the capital T truth.

Nuworld - May 6, 2020, 7:19 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:16 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes because facts are facts. Lol. Everything I've claimed in this thread is the capital T truth.

your a funny kid, I'll just leave this as it is.

Enjoy?

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 7:28 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:06 PM)Nuworld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As much as i don't like Ash, However he has brought up so good points.

looking like Lavish is backed up in the corner.

The funny thing is as others have said, The "Math" don't add up.

21-22 as a teacher? i don't think so.

What we are witnessing here is a pipe dream of something that never happened.

It's only a dream that once he wakes up?

Is when reality hits.

Been there done it.

OH! BTW: I went to school to fly military planes. (Remember that one)

It almost reminds me of when Thornzzz tried claiming he was accepted into the NHL. ?

(May 6, 2020 07:08 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Another one of my haters ???

view my thread in education nation for some proof. Thanks

That's the thing, we've all viewed your threads. The bad thing for you is that they don't match up with your story, and really add to my theory that you were just a student teacher, which is not a teacher lol.

(May 6, 2020 07:16 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes because facts are facts. Lol. Everything I've claimed in this thread is the capital T truth.

A teacher and student teacher are two very different things.

Hence why you offered >THIS< math homework service on HF some years back. What actual math teacher would post their career work on a hacking forum? You were 17 at the time of posting that thread seeing you're supposedly 22 now, so in no way possible were you an actual math teacher.

I think we've discovered the truth bois. Nuworld Ash Ketchum

SaintJimmy - May 6, 2020, 7:28 pm

I've completed my graduation a year back and in Bachelor of Applied Technology. Currently pursuing my post graduation in Business Law & Administration and working part time as well.

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 7:35 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:32 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I began my student teaching in Sept 2019. It's a one school year program where you take over the role of lead teacher in the classroom in order to get your teaching credential.

When the hell did I claim to be a math teacher in 2015? lol.

how about this one - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6043771>

$9200 scholarship, which was from this scholarship opportunity -

<https://www2.calstate.edu/impact-of-the-csu/teacher-education/Pages/residency-year-scholarship.aspx>

"Strong residency programs help candidates gain the skills, knowledge, and confidence to succeed on their first day as a teacher." - I have 20+ hours of footage of me teaching, if you'd like to see btw
Yes please post a long video of you teaching on HF so we can all see it and finally put this to rest.

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 7:36 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:28 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It almost reminds me of when Thornzzz tried claiming he was accepted into the NHL. ?

That's the thing, we've all viewed your threads. The bad thing for you is that they don't match up with your story, and really add to my theory that you were just a student teacher, which is not a teacher lol.

A teacher and student teacher are two very different things.

Hence why you offered >THIS< math homework service on HF some years back. What actual math teacher would post their career work on a hacking forum? You were 17 at the time of posting that thread seeing you're supposedly 22 now, so in no way possible were you an actual math teacher.

I think we've discovered the truth bois. Nuworld Ash Ketchum was obvious from the start, he also just tagged us in a thread with images i found on google.. the lengths he will go to for this lie, unbearable

Grim - May 6, 2020, 7:36 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:19 PM)Moms Boyfriend Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am currently working on my Bachelors in Computer Science. Curious as to the education levels of those here at HackForums.

Might drop out to pursue my career in eBook sales though.
High school. Tried college was not for me at all maybe some day though

Yin Yang - May 6, 2020, 7:37 pm

I graduated with my bachelors in CS- feel free to reach out if u need help/advise

Stepdad - May 6, 2020, 7:41 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:37 PM)Yin Yang Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I graduated with my bachelors in CS- feel free to reach out if u need help/advise Hey thanks! I'm a semester out from graduation. Might be hitting you up for Computer Architecture help.

de_g3ntl3m4n - May 6, 2020, 7:45 pm

ah well you know focusin on that solo life without the college working on my own but contemplating on going back to school

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 7:48 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:37 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I can't do that lol, that's the stupidest thing I've heard in a long time... post a video of a bunch of underage minors on a public forum so they could potentially be doxed and harassed. Sure. I can show you privately tho.

Are you slow lol? I quite literally said to do exactly what you asked me if I wanted to see... ???

Lavish Living Wrote:"I have 20+ hours of footage of me teaching, if you'd like to see btw"

> offers to show me

> I say okay do it

> "your idea that's the stupidest thing I've heard in a long time..."

> very intelligent math teacher ?

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 7:51 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:49 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You asked me to post the vids publicly. Lol

I can show you privately, no problem. Lmk

Yes please send me the video either on HF or to my Discord.

Which works best for you?

Sprinkle - May 6, 2020, 7:53 pm

I have a Bachelors in Information Technology and an Associates in Business Administration. College is all wrapped up, but running my own businesses as we speak. That was more for a backup plan and my own self confidence/motivation/drive

Cooligan - May 6, 2020, 7:59 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:52 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I will not send the vid to you. I can show you tho. Lmk

Okay and how do you plan on showing me without sending me the video..?

No I'm not screen sharing with you.

(May 6, 2020 08:01 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ok. Don't need to show you anyways. Not going to break edcode cuz of some hater online lol

Okay so you had absolutely no intention on actually showing me any video.

Welp okay then. Can't say I'm surprised. Reminds me of communist Russia giving out the propaganda number in times of a crisis.

The good ol'e: "Let's just make them think we can prove this!"

Yikes.

edit: Well I see you deleted your post lol, a little too late seeing I have it quoted. Lavish Living
Lol Nuworld Ash Ketchum

Present - May 6, 2020, 10:32 pm

I completed High School Certificate back in 2017. I'm third year in Bachelor of Science as of now.

humanbody - May 6, 2020, 10:33 pm

Bachelors degree in computer science and engineering.

Ash Ketchum - May 6, 2020, 10:34 pm

(May 6, 2020 07:59 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Okay and how do you plan on showing me without sending me the video..?

No I'm not screen sharing with you.

Okay so you had absolutely no intention on actually showing me any video.

Welp okay then. Can't say I'm surprised. Reminds me of communist Russia giving out the propaganda number in times of a crisis.

The good ol'e: "Let's just make them think we can prove this!"

Yikes.

edit: Well I see you deleted your post lol, a little too late seeing I have it quoted. Lavish Living
Lol Nuworld Ash Ketchum

Didn't get the notification for ur tags for some reason but LMAO the dude actually deleted his comments, trying to hide more evidence he's lying yikers.

Zee - May 6, 2020, 10:50 pm

The highest level of education you can get is being self-taught.

A + - May 6, 2020, 11:07 pm

I have 30 something college credit hours I believe.

Banker - May 6, 2020, 11:18 pm

Graduated in 2017 with a bachelor in Business. Did a double major in Managerial Finance & Banking Finance as well as a minor in Real Estate. Kind of wish I did my masters which was the original plan, but I got a job offer I couldn't refuse. If I could do it all again I maybe would have declined the offer and done my masters first, not entirely sure. I don't really understand you guys that drop out of college (unless its for financial problems), or high school. More often than not things don't really work out as planned, so having a safety net in the form of a degree is good to have... At least psychologically when things go south... I'm pretty sure most of you aren't Steve Jobs or Mark Zuckerberg, but I hope I'm wrong :)

Ombra - May 7, 2020, 1:32 am

(May 6, 2020 06:19 PM)Moms Boyfriend Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Might drop out to pursue my career in eBook sales though.

Nice joke. You shouldn't even try wasting your degree to sell eBooks online.

Ash Ketchum - May 7, 2020, 1:34 am

(May 7, 2020 01:32 AM)Ombra Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nice joke. You shouldn't even try wasting your degree to sell eBooks online.

ebooks make 10k/month don't you read the sales thread titles smh?

better than whatever his degree pays most likely.

Ombra - May 7, 2020, 1:36 am

(May 7, 2020 01:34 AM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) ebooks make 10k/month don't you read the sales thread titles smh?

better than whatever his degree pays most likely.

Ouch I missed it, then it's definitely worth starting an ebook business. Let me start handwriting my knowledge and put it for sale

Ash Ketchum - May 7, 2020, 1:37 am

(May 7, 2020 01:36 AM)Ombra Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ouch I missed it, then it's definitely worth starting an ebook business. Let me start handwriting my knowledge and put it for sale

You're welcome, i'll send you my btc addy that'll be $500 for giving u my method.

Simplex - May 7, 2020, 2:05 am

56 college credits. I can only afford to take one or two classes a semester while working.

Lindros - May 7, 2020, 2:08 am

I got like 100 college credits, i'm about to have a degree, a minor and some associates degrees in a couple years.

My major is software engineering.

Jerry Smith - May 7, 2020, 2:08 am

I have a GED (General Education Diploma). It's the equivalent to a high school diploma in the united states.

01001 - May 7, 2020, 2:46 am

I hold a master's degree in computer applications and planning to do a PhD (not very soon).

Xen - May 7, 2020, 3:05 am

Nothing too interesting I've got a A level in IT and Business. I have no idea what that is equivalent to in the US but probably similar to your version of high school.

I didn't decide to go into University and decided to go into work though I may look into University just to get a degree in Networking under my belt.

SIM-3205632 - May 7, 2020, 3:05 am that is one of the most ugly name colors i've ever seen.

Beherit - May 7, 2020, 3:42 am

I'd like to at least finish my AS degree. I have a year or so down but this was years ago. I need like 6 classes to get my degree.

Jake Muller - May 7, 2020, 11:45 am

I did college, that's pretty much it. I am not a school guy.

Average_User - May 7, 2020, 12:31 pm

Starting University this past fall, looking to pursuing math or comp. sci (if I can get in, it's pretty competitive).

MrJamesDean - May 7, 2020, 2:50 pm

I have a Bachelors and want to study for another when the world gets back to normal, mostly for myself but also for some career reasons.

4dik - May 7, 2020, 2:57 pm

I currently have a associates in computer science but Im looking to get bachelors in aeronautical engineering

Ciandra - May 7, 2020, 3:00 pm

I was still under graduates of civil engineering bachelor programs.
Now, i realize that strudying in college taking much cost.

SIM-4460064 - May 7, 2020, 3:05 pm

Dropped out of High School and haven't looked back.

Computer Science is easy enough to self study and not fork out 40K for a degree.
Can just get your certifications and you'll be fine if the eBook sales fail.

HOMODIN - May 7, 2020, 3:08 pm

Fun fact, I only have the basic mandatory 9 years of school. Studied to become an electrician but didn't finish since my life went to hell...then went to an other school to study IT but got f:ed over by the principal, never finished anything. Not really sad about that since I haven't needed an education for anything, LinkedIn is a great place where headhunters find people so yeah, haven't had any issues finding work and the latest job that I got (current one) was also thanks to a head hunter and the offer was so good so that I even moved abroad for it.

7 - May 7, 2020, 3:09 pm

Foundation degree. TBH I get too bored on the same subject so I end up not carrying on (May 7, 2020 03:05 AM)Xen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nothing too interesting I've got a A level in IT and Business. I have no idea what that is equivalent to in the US but probably similar to your version of high school.

I didn't decide to go into University and decided to go into work though I may look into University just to get a degree in Networking under my belt.

OMG BROTHERHOOD YOUR STILL HERE!!!!!! MY LOVE

KrazyHigh - May 7, 2020, 3:11 pm

I dropped out of high school 10th grade. My life is so much different now, but to be honest I didn't have much of a choice at the time.

Blogger - May 7, 2020, 3:21 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:19 PM)Moms Boyfriend Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am currently working on my Bachelors in Computer Science. Curious as to the education levels of those here at HackForums.

Might drop out to pursue my career in eBook sales though.

A career in ebook sales? I've never heard that referred to as a career.

As for me, I've completed some college courses but I always say my highest level of education is high school since I don't have a college degree.

Good luck with your degree!

?nxy - May 7, 2020, 3:25 pm

I don't have any level of education besides what I've taught myself

Rhythmatic - May 7, 2020, 3:27 pm

(May 6, 2020 06:25 PM)Lavish Living Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) nah covid19 has backed up all the school districts hiring process

Are all of those awards really necessary? :|

Hero - May 7, 2020, 3:42 pm

Ya'll studying math, im studying bitches.

I actually suck at both.

shitmaster - May 7, 2020, 4:47 pm

I have a Bachelors's in Teaching. I have however never practiced teaching my whole life.