So My first post here and instead of trying to seem too superficial/specious I would like to get to work and make my objectives behind joining here and the creation of this thread explicitly clear.

OBJECTIVES: The main objective of mine is gaining the private information of a few people on some distinguishing social media mediums through hook or crook I am not a professional hacker and have no actual particular experience in coding or anything in relation to gaining the private information of somebody or verifying who is behind an account completely a newbie at this to say the least and inexperienced I need guidance and would be much appreciated from my side of you folks can provide any help regarding this aspiration of mine.

Tools: I don't have access to any advanced tool to proceed further and consummate this further on this other than a decently featured and working digital phone and am solely looking to hack through that any response with information that can help me out would be much appreciated.
