Question, I have very little experience with OpenBullet but are the configs proxyless and/or have capture?

Most configs you will find are not proxyless as website will start blocking requests from your IP after a certain number of requests. You do have the option to not use proxies if you want though.

Update: The Reddit and Amex configurations are no longer working. I'm working on fixes for both right now. All other configs for popular services (including Minecraft) seem to be working well!

You guys open these sales threads... then just abandon them and/or don't answer any inquiries.

Never understood the point in that.
