Thread: [\[25/MONTH\] SNEAKER COOK GROUP \[UK/EU\] \[TONNES OF SUCCESS\]](#)

pharaohsneaks - May 11, 2020, 4:52 am

Hey guys, today I'm selling sneaker cook group memberships for one of the FASTEST growing groups within the EU.

If you don't know what a cook group is, it's essentially a group of professional, and highly successful resellers which will guide you how to become successful reselling sneakers and clothing.

If you have ANY questions, or wish to purchase, please PM me.

Twitter : <https://twitter.com/SOLEITARY>

Success Twitter : <https://twitter.com/SOLEITARYS>

As you can see, we have a lot of recent success and it's a great side income!

Unfortunately there are no vouch copies as they already have tonnes of members who cop every single month as shown on the Twitter!

Pounds!

If your not going to give a review copy then I doubt you'll have any luck in even making one sale.

Sounds legit. lul

Lol, no, a review copy for selected members should at the very least be done; of course.

I'm selling the memberships, I don't own the actual service.
No need for a review copy when the success sells itself.

And if you aren't in the sneaker game already then fair enough if you don't think it's legit, but the Twitter shows it is.

Fair enough, I give everyone the benefit of the doubt. Don't get me wrong, haha.

You're a new account, no one's going to trust your product without a quality review by a forum member

I don't own the service, all success and vouches from other happy customers of the service is on their Twitter. If you're not in the sneaker game you probably wouldn't understand, and that's fine.

Off site vouches mean fuckall when you have none onsite.

I'd suggest even offering a discount rate for a vouch copy as it would really help sales. GLWS buddy

I know how it works, I've been on many similar forums. Again - I don't own the service, so to give a vouch copy would set me back £25/month, which is simply not going to happen.

I've already got interest from people that understand.

Thanks.
