Thread: COVID-19 Music - Hip Hop Category

Sprinkle - May 11, 2020, 2:57 pm

With COVID-19 in circulation, we can likely expect a lot of solid music coming our way with more centralized time for our favorite artists

What is your favorite new release Hip Hop song right now?

Check this one out: <https://youtu.be/XK9Ewt6ELkc>

It's unbelievable how much everyone seems to be dick ridding him right now.

I heard the hype, I'd just rather not give him a stream or promote more. I'm waiting for a real one to take care of him, especially since he won't let the situation die and continues to provoke them

Or the one that eats his boogers when nobody is watching

It's Dutch. Something like; "Corona, bad for your Oma (grandma), worse than a SOA (STD)".

It rhymes smoothly in the native tongue but the beat still good regardless if you get the lyrics or not haha.

Exactly, I see myself vibing to it as a beat admirer. Thank you for the brief translation

I cast a vote that snitches name should be turned to "Clay Davis" forum wide

Bacardi Cola Lime - May 11, 2020, 3:17 pm

Lil Baby released a song called Social Distancing. Haven't heard it yet since I'm not into that kind of rap but yeah, music genres in general are gonna get affected.

I feel as though most artists are releasing old music they never put out due to many people at home.

Right, but in the near future we are likely to have a nice wave of solid music due to the increase in focus time
