Thread: Middleman Statistics

Zexi - May 11, 2020, 7:57 pm

Its been a while since middleman options were implemented to HF contracts and since there is no B ratings for middleman-ing, it would be nice if there was a statistic of contracts completed as a middleman.

I know its a minor change for everyone but would be great if it was visible somewhere on the market profile.

Dorrance - May 12, 2020, 2:01 am

Nice decision I think someone would love to see this to feel comfortable in a deal with a MM

Ash Ketchum - May 12, 2020, 2:55 am

I agree this would also add incentive for trusted members to open middleman services.

But I don't understand how a group that's not officially made by Omni is allowed to be named middlemen it creates a false sense of trust for new members.

Cooligan - May 12, 2020, 2:57 am

This would be nice to have for middlemanning deals. Either a B-rating for the deal or a separate statistic altogether like you suggested, both options would be great to have.

B Rating being implemented now after a while wont do anything except bring empty positive b ratings.

Just a counter on a profile or just market profile of "Completed Contracts as Middleman" would be fine.

Yeah basically an option right under the already existing "Contracts Completed" statistic.

All for this. I wish this was added back in 2013 lol, my counter would be quite high.

Going to assume it's a crew Simply because I doubt Omni would approve this since we've got v3ndors and he would make his own ranking system if anything, and I don't imagine it'll last long regardless of who is in it you can't just freely label yourselves as hack forums middlemen.

Just because you recruit the middlemen of the forum doesn't mean you should be able to make it your official title, if I was to make a MM thread right now I'm as trustworthy as either of these people but I wouldn't be added because of personal quarrels. Trust isn't judged by favoritism or who can afford to buy a crew, the moment someone gets scammed because of your false implications is the day we lose a potential member of the forum.

There is no false sense of trust because the 2 of us the only guys who actually MM on this site all the time. If there was a member with 33 B ratings which i wouldn't trust with my money in the crew i would leave it immediately and not let it be associated with me.

Also the crew is not named "Official HF Middlemen", doubt Lavish didn't run it by Omni before rebranding.

This thread is not about the crew its about my suggestion. Feel free to create a thread yourself where you rant about the crew.

I can guarantee I've done bigger deals on this forum than you, But aside from that, this is directly related to your thread?

If adding B-ratings for MM becomes a thing it adds to your end goal for the crew you're in.

the crew status was also discussed/implied by both you and lavish, But don't worry I won't continue to speak on your thread as long as no one quotes me further.

You don't need titles to make a statement.

And what the thousands of dollars of exchanges i've done aren't an established portfolio?

B-rating is new and you've got 99% of yours from cheap products, anyone can sell cheap accounts and build a b-rating that doesn't make them trusted.

But I don't care about if you dislike me or not I care about how misleading your crew is to new members.

Anyway even though OP and you discussed the crew openly on the thread he no longer wants it discussed so feel free to pm me if you want to say anything else.

I've done more in exchanges the past month than you have in your entire HF career.

I've also MM'd thousands. Exchanges won't play any role in who gets invited to the Middlemen crew besides a high b rating but even if you had 2,000 b rating (Raymond) I wouldn't invite you unless you have established yourself as an mm as well

You've certainly not done more exchanges in the past month than i've done in my entire HF career, until like 2018 you weren't even an active member Imfao.

Anyway, this thread isn't about arguing with you I've proven the flaw in your crew already, spin it how you wish but your end goal is to turn it into a money grab and no one's dumb enough to not see that naming yourself Middlemen implies you're a trusted member of the community and to others, an officially ranked MM since that rank does exist on a lot of marketplaces.

Now stop quoting me forcing me to defend myself so OP can get the responses he came for.

Lol... These 2 posts couldn't be more wrong. I can think of 5 other members off the top of my head I'd trust all year before coming to either of you, sorry to say Zexi. Not to mention that you 2 are NOT the only middlemen on this forum, that's just comical to think that guys. Especially when I've been middlemanning years and years longer than either of you and can quite literally guarantee the amount I've MM'd in total is hundreds of thousands of dollars more than you guys ever have. Now this is not a pissing contest, so please do not reply with antagonistic responses.. I'm simply here to let both of you know that it's an utter crock to think just because now you have a fancy crew userbar means anyone who's in the crew is now the best MM on the forum, hence some of your replies to Ash on this thread.

Middlemanning is about helping the community, not about creating clout for yourself or to use it as a tool to benefit yourself. Most people I see today who try to MM or create a new service for it turns out dying in about a month, why? Because they're in it for the money and clout, and/or "b-rating" depending on what site/forum this is happening on, and I won't lie but seeing a fancy crew userbar saying "Middlemen" that is also owned by Lavish, well it's hard to not think that it has to do with money.

I just know what groups like this turn into, and typically it's never pretty. Some great members have fallen to the temptation of a medium-ish deal of say a $3,000 IG username, they end up scamming out simply because the opportunity has now arisen due to them being in a fancy group/crew labeled "Escrow" or "Middleman", it's happened oh so so many times on multiple forums. My advice would be to tread lightly when adding new members, don't add people just because they're in Gamblers, don't add people you think are your "friends", and DON'T add anyone because they paid..

Please just take this as constructive criticism as I'm not here to argue with anyone.

I don't want to invite old inactive middlemen because I don't see them as truth worthy. They could very well come out of nowhere and do exactly what you just stated and scam for a quick $3k. I will only be inviting active members of the community. But even then - it's just a crew lol. Nothing official about it.

As i said in my previous posts i will never be associated with someone i don't trust and i will leave the crew as soon as someone like that joins. Which i did.

Lavish added Zero to the crew = I left the crew.

I am not a sad person to brag about how much money i MMed or exchanged on HF. (Like certain members in this thread are)

That's why i would like MM statistics to be implemented, actions can speak louder than the words.

Users will not know if it's a official group or not because it won't say anywhere but it has a userbar so they would think it is, and if a scam occurred people would blame the site for it for sure. It could be a great idea if it was heavily controlled which it isn't right now.

Do you think I made the crew without approval first? ?

Also - this suggested statistic somewhere in the marketplace would be ideal. Even a drop down menu IN the first page of setting up a contract with most used MM UIDs.

The MM field for contracts was implemented 15 months ago, 02-16-2019, we should definitely be allowed to see some statistics now.

What you say changes as fast as your Crew members leave. ?

It's an official crew application thread.

No where is it claiming to be a trusted or official HF middleman tho. Syntax buddy, go back to English class.

Claiming to be an official middleman crew, Can you show proof or get an admin to verify this crew is recongnized as a trusted mm crew? seems like you passed it off as a name and they didn't think of the fact you were going to monetize it and potentially leading to members being scammed?

Now stop posting your nonsense on this thread we've both asked you stop responding an antagonizing with your compulsive lies.

Optional Syntax that you've clearly put there to mislead people.

Can you please show me where I claim to be recognized as a trusted mm crew? You can rebrand your crew to middlemen as well idc, no crew can self proclaim to be trusted though.

I never claimed to be recognized as a trusted mm crew lol

I am not monetizing it at all.

I don't see a single recruitment thread without the words official in the title. It's a necessity I believe.

Now stop posting your nonsense on this thread. Shameful troll go back to the cave you came from Now stop posting your nonsense on this thread. Shameful troll go back to the cave you came from You've done nothing but defend the legitimacy of your crew and how it's approved by staff lol? you don't need to say exact words to constantly imply that you're trusted and staff approved, you're indirectly trying to act as if you're approved to be an official MM crew but you wont say that because it's not true, and we let this thread drama die out yesterday but you felt the need to quote us to start it up again, I'll ask you again stop posting to try and get a response out of anyone you're causing drama because others have an opposing opinion and call you out for your blatant bullshit.

also lying about that being a necessity there's not forcefully added implication as there is in other sub forums so it's no a requirement.

This is what a required syntax looks like on the forum, you know this though you just seem to think other users are less intelligent than you and won't see through your lies.

I did not create the crew without first asking permission.

That's I have to say.

Zexi - May 13, 2020, 5:52 am

Thanks to everyone who moved the drama to the crews application thread.

I seriously hope this suggestion gets picked up.

Lavish Living - May 13, 2020, 8:54 am

Stanley used to send PM confirmations when a contract was accepted with you as the MM. Now it's just sent as an alert, at least for me.

But going through my old pms, I probably have around 30 lol. Not much since 02/19

I will sell my crew and join middlemen crew. Great concept and trusted users should be helping the HF marketplace from scammers like Cooligan, Demize, and Ash Ketchum.

i would sell another one for bytes honestly its only short time until omni pumps the market for bytes back up to 6-8/k

Pretty sure there are a few users looking to buy groups now. You could be in to make a bit on one.
You should put your thread to $5. I left mine at $5/k and I'm not fussed if they move a bit slower.

Honestly it's some good suggestions, I would love to see some more vendor features tbh.

Omniscient - May 16, 2020, 6:34 pm

I can consider this but it's not high on the project list.

Zexi - July 25, 2020, 9:45 am

Should be on top in case they decide to do the Kill Joy's suggestion too.

Blockonome - July 25, 2020, 10:18 am

Sounds like a valid idea here, I am with you on this one OP.

Free Kurdistan - July 26, 2020, 8:49 am

I agree since I think MM's should be praised more.

j0rdyy93 - August 20, 2020, 1:07 am

Deffo agree.... As a new member its easy to be targeted for scams.

Would be awesome if there was an "Official" middleman group, perhaps req. a large deposit etc.. Its surprising what people would do for a few $xxxx

Dorrance - October 19, 2020, 9:14 pm

I think this idea should be brought back up.

Aithan - October 20, 2020, 9:36 am

This would be nice to have for middlemanning deals. Either a B-rating for the deal or a separate statistic altogether like you suggested, both options would be great to have.

Regulus - October 20, 2020, 9:38 am

If this only existed when I was an active MM back in the days.
I'd be AT THE TOP.

I like and support this idea though <3
