

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Doctor was impressed | Need Respected HF member's advice

Glein Snow - May 11, 2020, 10:10 pm

Hello respected members,

Few hours back, I visited doctor as I was not feeling well (described in my last thread). Doctor found that my Blood pressure was higher than normal and also recommended me to wear glasses while working on system. It was because I was working for continuous 17-18 hours a day to fulfill my dream. However after the medical check up and advising medicines, we started talking about personal life. He is my family doctor and we know each other personally. He asked me like why I am working for so many hours in a day, is this something new. I explained him about my ongoing project. He was so impressed that he offered me an investment of $3000 for 3% of stack. I have asked him for some time to think about this.

Thanks everyone who were worried about my health. I am better now. As per doctor's advice, I took some medicine and a good sound sleep. That helped me a lot.

I need your advice whether I should accept his offer or not?

Huge respect for you all!

Regards,
Glein Snow

A + - May 11, 2020, 10:31 pm

What project is it if you don't mind me asking? Do you see it being successful? How long will it take for you to complete it? Do you know how to market it properly? What would you use the money for? Lots of stuff can go into a question like that before you start playing with somebodies money, and before we can answer it tbh.

Glad you're feeling better though buddy. Get you some good rest. That many hours without sleep per day can take its toll after a while.

Ash Ketchum - May 11, 2020, 10:42 pm

Can't give you advice if we don't know what it is, but $3000 capital for 3% could be a good offer on a lot of start ups

Banker - May 11, 2020, 10:47 pm

(May 11, 2020 10:31 PM)SuitedPear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What project is it if you don't mind me asking? Do you see it being successful? How long will it take for you to complete it? Do you know how to market it properly? What would you use the money for? Lots of stuff can go into a question like that before you start playing with somebodies money, and before we can answer it tbh.

And for that reason, I'm out. :P

On topic, sounds like a classic burnout. These are very underrated and very dangerous. Wish you the best

Shrooms - May 11, 2020, 10:55 pm

Glad you're doing well now.

If you value your idea/business at $100,000 or less take the offer. If you value it more than that, don't. Simple.

OLOY - May 11, 2020, 10:56 pm

We would have to know what the project is about - but 3k$ is a good start for a lot of start-ups, so in that regard, it could help you out. HOWEVER, you'd need to make a plan for that money, don't just go blow it off ;)

SIM-888979 - May 11, 2020, 11:55 pm

That's a $100,000 valuation.

Is that what you think your company is going to be worth? Is the $3,000 needed?

Bacardi Cola Lime - May 12, 2020, 2:00 am

3000$ for 3% is pretty good if the project is at the beginning, at a start-up stage. We could use some info on the project and your value estimation.

gurlhackerclub - May 12, 2020, 2:19 am

I went to the doctor today because my back hurts. He said I shouldn't be carrying money bags around all the time. I told him I make so much money I don't know what to do. He said I should share this e-whoring method with my fellow hackforum members for the low price of $59.95.

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 2:19 am

It depends on so many factors. Do you really need that money ? Or do you need his skills or expertise ? How much do you value your start-up at the moment (or the launch day) ? Are you even ok with giving shares ? (even a small amount)

Oxford - May 12, 2020, 2:50 am

(May 12, 2020 02:19 AM)gurlhackerclub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I went to the doctor today because my back hurts. He said I shouldn't be carrying money bags around all the time. I told him I make so much money I don't know what to do. He said I should share this e-whoring method with my fellow hackforum members for the low price of $59.95.

Most savage reply ever ? and honestly I think OP is some 15 year old kid trying hard to get attention anyways he should work improving his script lol.

Xen - May 12, 2020, 3:01 am

I think if we knew what your project was we could advise better.

3000 for 3% is decent for a startup. All depends how you value it.

scam. - May 12, 2020, 3:59 am

Is $3000 really decent for a start up?

Glein Snow - May 12, 2020, 7:40 am

(May 11, 2020 10:31 PM)SuitedPear Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What project is it if you don't mind me asking? Do you see it being successful? How long will it take for you to complete it? Do you know how to market it properly? What would you use the money for? Lots of stuff can go into a question like that before you start playing with somebodies money, and before we can answer it tbh.

Glad you're feeling better though buddy. Get you some good rest. That many hours without sleep per day can take its toll after a while.

A + This project is for social media platforms and for the people who really look for real followers or likes in short span of time. Till I do not launch my project and my costing is not recovered, I can not consider it as successful. Its almost in last stage of development. Any day in this month I am planning to launch this and start giving voucher copies to selected members. If I get money from him or from any body else, I will definitely use it on marketing.

Thanks and huge respect for caring about my health.

(May 11, 2020 10:42 PM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can't give you advice if we don't know what it is, but $3000 capital for 3% could be a good offer on a lot of start ups

Thanks Ash Ketchum ! I am not sure if this is good or not. What if my project after launch attracts a lot of customers then it will easily return $50K per month.

(May 11, 2020 10:47 PM)Banker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) And for that reason, I'm out. :P

On topic, sounds like a classic burnout. These are very underrated and very dangerous. Wish you the best

Thanks Banker

(May 11, 2020 10:55 PM)Shroom Caps n Hash Bricks Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Glad you're doing well now.

If you value your idea/business at $100,000 or less take the offer. If you value it more than that, don't. Simple.

You are right Shrooms

(May 11, 2020 10:56 PM)OLOY Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) We would have to know what the project is about - but 3k$ is a good start for a lot of start-ups, so in that regard, it could help you out. HOWEVER, you'd need to make a plan for that money, don't just go blow it off ;)

The project is related to social media following.

(May 11, 2020 11:55 PM)Lotus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's a $100,000 valuation.

Is that what you think your company is going to be worth? Is the $3,000 needed?

I am not sure SIM-888979 about the worth. But yes money is needed on marketing part of the project.

(May 12, 2020 02:00 AM)Bacardi Cola Lime Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 3000$ for 3% is pretty good if the project is at the beginning, at a start-up stage. We could use some info on the project and your value estimation.

Thanks Bacardi Cola Lime The project is almost finalized and I am planning to launch in this month.

(May 12, 2020 02:17 AM)Stephen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you see it being successful then go ahead, if it's something that's going to keep you up at night again once you send the $$ then don't.

Thanks Stephen

I don't know whether I will take doc's offer or not, but still I will have to be up at night because I am in love with my project and I have a bad habit of not leaving my work undone. Thanks for caring about my health. Huge respect for you.

(May 12, 2020 02:19 AM)gurlhackerclub Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I went to the doctor today because my back hurts. He said I shouldn't be carrying money bags around all the time. I told him I make so much money I don't know what to do. He said I should share this e-whoring method with my fellow hackforum members for the low price of $59.95.

Take care gurlhackerclub . Get well soon.

(May 12, 2020 02:19 AM)Exposed74 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It depends on so many factors. Do you really need that money ? Or do you need his skills or expertise ? How much do you value your start-up at the moment (or the launch day) ? Are you even ok with giving shares ? (even a small amount)
Exposed74 I need money on marketing part of my project. But his skills are really not required for this. He will be like a silent partner if I accept his offer. Till today I evaluate it in terms of hours i.e. 2880 hours of work (4 people 8 hours 30 days * 3 months)

(May 12, 2020 02:50 AM)Oxford Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Most savage reply ever ? and honestly I think OP is some 15 year old kid trying hard to get attention anyways he should work improving his script lol.
Thanks for advice Oxford
Huge respect for you. I am 29 years old guy.

(May 12, 2020 03:01 AM)Xen Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think if we knew what your project was we could advise better.

3000 for 3% is decent for a startup. All depends how you value it.
Its a platform for getting real followers for social media.

(May 12, 2020 03:59 AM)scam Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is $3000 really decent for a start up?
I am not sure scam.

TBH, till I do not launch my product to the market, evaluating this will be a hard task.

Ash Ketchum - May 12, 2020, 7:42 am

(May 12, 2020 07:40 AM)Glein Snow Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) -snip=-
If it has the potential for 50k/month then no don't do it.

$3000 at 3% is valuing your company at 100k but if its got the potential to make 600k/year from start-up this is not worth it.

Vibe - May 12, 2020, 7:47 am

(May 12, 2020 03:59 AM)scam Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is $3000 really decent for a start up?
3000 for 3% is a good deal for start up imo. Would have to come out too 100k total value For the dr to break even

MrJamesDean - May 12, 2020, 7:56 am

That's a great offer, but make sure you write a solid contract that doesn't give him too much sway over things even if just 3%. Best of luck in everything you do with this!

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 7:58 am

(May 12, 2020 07:40 AM)Glein Snow Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exposed74 I need money on marketing part of my project. But his skills are really not required for this. He will be like a silent partner if I accept his offer. Till today I evaluate it in terms of hours i.e. 2880 hours of work (4 people 8 hours 30 days * 3 months)

You can't really evaluate it by how much hours associates spent in it. Try to base it on how much you expect to sell it for/how many customer you will have the first year without this investment, and multiply it by 4 or 5

Hackbase - May 12, 2020, 7:58 am

Let me give you a straight answer,

Doctor is surely impressed by the hardwork you do and offered you the money as help and as far as I can see he's not looking to make any profit but didn't wanted to just handover the money either because then people seems to not understand it's value.

I would suggest you to accept the proposal and never let him down. Make sure to give his part back and return the money when you are financially well and capable of doing so.

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 7:59 am

(May 12, 2020 07:47 AM)Vibe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 3000 for 3% is a good deal for start up imo. Would have to come out too 100k total value For the dr to break even

It could be good or it could be nothing. Even for a startup. Some needs few thousands, other dozens of thousands

Hackbase - May 12, 2020, 8:01 am

(May 12, 2020 07:47 AM)Vibe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 3000 for 3% is a good deal for start up imo. Would have to come out too 100k total value For the dr to break even

Yup and people here are suggesting OP to make a contract and what not like Dr gonna make millions.

Vibe - May 12, 2020, 9:00 am

(May 12, 2020 07:59 AM)Exposed74 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It could be good or it could be nothing. Even for a startup. Some needs few thousands, other dozens of thousands Yeah Not sure what your point is? that 3k sure would help a lot more then 0k if you needed dozens...

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 9:23 am

(May 12, 2020 09:00 AM)Vibe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah Not sure what your point is? that 3k sure would help a lot more then 0k if you needed dozens...

Well, accepting this offer to value your company at 100 000$ could be painful for him if he wants to value it higher later on while not having made any big improvement, because if an investor would want to invest 20 000$ he would refuse anything under 20%. And if you need dozens, only take the 3k if it can really help you get the rest.

But all of this depends on how much OP value his company.

Vibe - May 12, 2020, 10:16 am

(May 12, 2020 09:23 AM)Exposed74 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, accepting this offer to value your company at 100 000$ could be painful for him if he wants to value it higher later on while not having made any big improvement, because if an investor would want to invest 20 000$ he would refuse anything under 20%. And if you need dozens, only take the 3k if it can really help you get the rest.

But all of this depends on how much OP value his company.

He can always raise the value for future investors. Just because the first one got 3% at 3k doesn't mean he has to keep that rate for future investors if he feels his company is worth more

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 10:22 am

(May 12, 2020 10:16 AM)Vibe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He can always raise the value for future investors. Just because the first one got 3% at 3k doesn't mean he has to keep that rate for future investors if he feels his company is worth more

It will close doors. The future investors would either feel like they are being taken for clown if there is no major improvements but seeing a higher valuation, or they would think that the owner is dumb about accepting the 3k offer for 3% if it should have been 1 or 1.5%. He can't just raise it like that, they know how to look at numbers. (Even worse since the 3k will only provide money, any investor bringing money and knowledge/network would ask for a higher cut)

Vibe - May 12, 2020, 11:11 am

(May 12, 2020 10:22 AM)Exposed74 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It will close doors. The future investors would either feel like they are being taken for clown if there is no major improvements but seeing a higher valuation, or they would think that the owner is dumb about accepting the 3k offer for 3% if it should have been 1 or 1.5%. He can't just raise it like that, they know how to look at numbers. (Even worse since the 3k will only provide money, any investor bringing money and knowledge/network would ask for a higher cut)

If an investor think their being taken a clown because someone thinks their company is worth more now, doesn't seem to really understand investments imo. Why would you be mad that the company you're buying. A piece of has gained value in the past?

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 11:12 am

(May 12, 2020 11:11 AM)Vibe Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If an investor think their being taken a clown because someone thinks their company is worth more now, doesn't seem to really understand investments imo. Why would you be mad that the company you're buying. A piece of has gained value in the past?

Because nobody likes to be undervalued, and it's even worst for investors.

SIM-3467872 - May 12, 2020, 11:16 am

Daily 17 hours work?? I think health is more important than the money. Take care of yourself mate.

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 11:20 am

(May 12, 2020 11:16 AM)SIM-3467872 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Daily 17 hours work?? I think health is more important than the money. Take care of yourself mate.

He went to see a doctor and the doctor wanted to give him money. Seems like it's not dangerous for his health ?

SIM-3467872 - May 12, 2020, 11:24 am

(May 12, 2020 11:20 AM)Exposed74 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He went to see a doctor and the doctor wanted to give him money. Seems like it's not dangerous for his health ?

I'm talking about his work and health please read the thread once again.

Exposed74 - May 12, 2020, 11:26 am

(May 12, 2020 11:24 AM)SIM-3467872 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm talking about his work and health please read the thread once again.

Read the whole thread then. He went to see the doctor, which only recommended him to wear glasses and gave him an investment offer.

Ciandra - May 12, 2020, 11:38 am

Before accepting that $3,000 offer. Make a calculation about the cost of your project first, how long you will done completed it, with minimize the risk of failure.

If you are able and can provide a 3% profit from the investment, then take it.

?ystem - May 12, 2020, 12:31 pm

I just keep on coming to see this thread essentially every time I browse for new posts, so I'll take it as a sign to post a response.

Personally, I would accept his offer and put it to good use. It can be extraordinarily difficult to find people that believe in you and what you're selling, but you found someone that wants to join on in. Accept it.

Pow3r - May 12, 2020, 1:23 pm

This is one of the more random events I have seen in the Lounge lately OP. If you need investment then it may be worth considering.

Squanchy - May 12, 2020, 1:25 pm

(May 11, 2020 10:42 PM)Ash Ketchum Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can't give you advice if we don't know what it is, but $3000 capital for 3% could be a good offer on a lot of start ups

Agreed. We need more info. I definitely wouldn't take any money if you don't have to.

Glein Snow - May 13, 2020, 3:49 am

Hello every one!

Huge respect for you all.

First of all thanks a lot to you all for caring about me. I am fit and okay now.

I read all advice from you people. I discussed it with few of my close friends too. Now here is what I have decided.

In future I do not want to feel that some body undervalued my effort or dream. I also do not want Doc to feel that he overvalued the same. I am not able to evaluate the worth of my project till its launched. However, due to lack of money, I may face the issue in marketing of my project but I will manage some how. I may have to work for some extra hours to manage this which may affect my health and life, but its okay for me.

I have decided to tell Doc that right now I don't need his money, however we may discuss this again once I launch this project. At least I will be satisfied that I am not putting someone else money on risk.

Thanks and regards,
Glein Snow

(May 13, 2020 03:49 AM)Glein Snow Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello every one!

Huge respect for you all.

First of all thanks a lot to you all for caring about me. I am fit and okay now.

I read all advice from you people. I discussed it with few of my close friends too. Now here is what I have decided.

In future I do not want to feel that some body undervalued my effort or dream. I also do not want Doc to feel that he overvalued the same. I am not able to evaluate the worth of my project till its launched. However, due to lack of money, I may face the issue in marketing of my project but I will manage some how. I may have to work for some extra hours to manage this which may affect my health and life, but its okay for me.

I have decided to tell Doc that right now I don't need his money, however we may discuss this again once I launch this project. At least I will be satisfied that I am not putting someone else money on risk.

Thanks and regards,
Glein Snow

Thanks a lot for your suggestions

[A + Ash Ketchum Banker Shrooms OLOY SIM-888979 Bacardi Cola Lime Stephen gurlhackerclub Exposed74 Oxford Xen scam. Vibe MrJamesDean Hackbase SIM-3467872 Ciandra ?ystem \[mention=4667696\] Pow3r Squanchy](#)

Everybody guided me well and helped me to take the right decision. Huge respect for each of you. You people are really nice and caring.

Glein Snow - May 14, 2020, 2:02 pm

(May 14, 2020 01:51 PM)phantomman55 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Isn't that the same as botting? or there's tons online that claims to get you followers for instagram. How do you think you will get clients if there's like over 50 websites online right now doing exactly what you do but have been doing it for years.

Why would someone use your service other than others that been doing it for years and already has a following?

Let it be a surprise [mention=3694811]

I am sure once the project is launched, you will appreciate this. By the way thanks for advice and making me aware about the competition.

Huge respect for you.

Perileos - May 14, 2020, 2:13 pm

Lowkey flex and if you wanted to flex you could've done so by not posting a story made up around it

Glein Snow - May 14, 2020, 9:58 pm

(May 14, 2020 02:10 PM)phantomman55 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm not hating.. pm me the link to the site when you launch. I would like to see and maybe if your product or idea is good enough. I could invest in you too.

I got free cash sitting and have been looking for a good investment. I got about $250,000 to invest. Just saying as long your website is perfectly legal and has some kind of new angle never be fore done. I might give you an offer.

Noted [mention=3694811]

Thanks for showing interest in my project.

Let the project be launched. After that I evaluate this and we can talk about this.

Huge respect for you!

NewRulez - May 15, 2020, 12:21 am

Yes take it, it will motivate you to work harder.