

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: See source of funds from Paypal transaction?

Patriot - May 12, 2020, 5:09 pm

Is it possible to see the source of funding used for a payment received on Paypal? Like to differentiate between someone who used their balance vs. a card.

Also, do people still do unauthorized transactions for friends/fam payments? Wanting to exchange but still be cautious as I haven't used Paypal in a hot minute.

AYMG - May 12, 2020, 5:10 pm

(May 12, 2020 05:09 PM)Patriot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Also, do people still do unauthorized transactions for friends/fam payments? Wanting to exchange but still be cautious as I haven't used Paypal in a hot minute.

Yeah, they do.

Big E - May 12, 2020, 5:14 pm

You cannot see how somebody funded a transaction with a regular paypal account. You used to be told on business accounts, but not sure if that's still the case.

nCuX0 - May 12, 2020, 5:28 pm

(May 12, 2020 05:09 PM)Patriot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is it possible to see the source of funding used for a payment received on Paypal? Like to differentiate between someone who used their balance vs. a card.

Also, do people still do unauthorized transactions for friends/fam payments? Wanting to exchange but still be cautious as I haven't used Paypal in a hot minute.

1. it used to be possible in the past but now i cant see that option(business account)
2. Yes they do, do not accept paypal from new members.