Thread: Secondary sellers?

Delocker - May 13, 2020, 1:28 pm

Is the secondary sellers in the marketplace even good? I've been looking at it and it seems like a bunch of junk. I've got some stuff i sell elsewhere and was wondering if I should post it there or somewhere else.

Thanks.

Most things sold in the marketplace are required to go in certain forums. Only upgraded members have access to certain forums as well.

Is it worth it to upgrade? Seems like the quality of products in premium is a lot better.

Is it worth to upgrade? Yes.

But, it does not require to upgrade to shop in the "Premium Sellers Section". You need to upgrade to sell there.

Upgrading is only good if you want to support the site or do a lot of business one here. Otherwise chilling as a regular member won't be tough at all.

You can catch some pretty solid stuff in Secondary Sellers. It's just a matter of checking at the right time.
