I need help writing a script that can constantly reload the available jobs on Instacart Shopper app and then accept instantly if the $$$ total is above a certain threshold. PM me.

Why not just build your own API wrapper?

Would probably need a JB tweak.

This, you'd need something at the system level to really change anything going on in an iOS app. I imagine it's easier on Android, but still has some of the same limitations of not being able to do anything too crazy.

If you have a good budget and can follow instructions on how to get me the info I need, PM me. I can do this for you.

Would probably be easier to just use a mitm proxy and to send your requests from PC.
