Thread: Can someone please find the password to this RAR file?

kielec - May 24, 2020, 12:55 pm

I have tried bruteforcing using a few wordlists but it takes way too damn long and I just don't have the time. I got the file like a month ago and forgot where I got it from, it was already named CIA

oh and I actually don't know what is supposed to be in it. I think it might be a self extracting file as it asks for the password without showing the contents. So please open at your own risk if you find the password. I would like to take a chance, so again if you do find the password, I would be grateful if it was provided to me. Thanks, Kielec

I'm not downloading it but a good way to find rar passwords is google the actual name of the file.

I've used some tools for finding a RAR password before, but I can't remember any name now. Allow me some time and I'll get back with a tool for it, however they usually require a set of details about the password like the possible length, whether or not it uses capital letters or symbols, etc. I've been able to use it because I have done so for rar files I compressed myself and years later I can't remember the password but kind of know the approximate length of it.

Edit: Nvm, I opened the link and saw that it wasn't the rar password you were talking about but the decryption key on MEGA.

No I'm talking about the RAR file password. I uploaded the rar file to MEGA for people to crack into the file, because I'm not sure what the password is Grab the hash of the RAR file and perform a search using the Double Quotes google dork.

Like someone else in the thread said, that'll be your best course of action.

Imao, "help me to crack this file which is called CIA"

Sounds like the shittiest honeypot I've ever seen
