

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Favorite James Bond Movie?

Megatron - May 27, 2020, 10:56 am

The James Bond franchise is one of those that seems like it will never go away. There are a ton of films, most of them being average-good and some of them being great. Which James Bond (007) film is your favorite, and why?

My favorite is Dr. No, just because it is the first one and it seems so different and original compared to the other ones. Some honorable mentions for me would be The Man With the Golden Gun, Goldfinger, and Goldeneye (probably because I'm nostalgic about the N64 game).

Deany - May 27, 2020, 11:00 am

Oof this is a tough one but ima go with Goldeneye

Scooby - May 28, 2020, 6:32 pm

(May 27, 2020 11:00 AM)Deany Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oof this is a tough one but ima go with Goldeneye Yup. A cinematic masterpiece. It was also the first one I ever saw and I remember being disappointed when Natalia wasn't in Tomorrow Never Dies lol. I was young and didn't understand the Bond formula.

Big E - May 28, 2020, 6:33 pm

I haven't watched many of the older James Bond films, but I quite liked Quantum of Solace which was about 12 years ago and Spectre aswell which is a newer one.

Megatron - May 28, 2020, 7:45 pm

(May 28, 2020 06:32 PM)Scooby Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yup. A cinematic masterpiece. It was also the first one I ever saw and I remember being disappointed when Natalia wasn't in Tomorrow Never Dies lol. I was young and didn't understand the Bond formula.

I thought Trevelyan (Sean Bean) was a pretty interesting villain and that the plot was different than the traditional Bond film. It's too bad they killed Trevelyan off.

InternetProxy - May 29, 2020, 7:35 am

Goldfinger is simply one of the best entries in the 007 franchise. Goldfinger had the elements to form a good spy thriller. The story was fun and quite humorous at times.

Megatron - May 29, 2020, 8:12 am

(May 29, 2020 07:35 AM)InternetProxy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Goldfinger is simply one of the best entries in the 007 franchise. Goldfinger had the elements to form a good spy thriller. The story was fun and quite humorous at times.

I'm always happy when I see Goldfinger on TV on BBC. It's mainly serious, but it has some pretty easygoing themes and cool characters (who doesn't love Oddjob?).

SIM-2327840 - May 29, 2020, 8:13 am

Casino Royale was the GOAT for me. Ivent seen the old ones though.

Megatron - May 29, 2020, 9:28 am

(May 29, 2020 08:13 AM)Mao Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Casino Royale was the GOAT for me. Ivent seen the old ones though.

That's one of my favorite contemporary ones. I thought they expertly introduced Daniel Craig, especially since one would think it would be hard to wrap your head around a fair haired Bond. I liked it especially because it didn't lean on action to create dramatic scenes, unlike the newer ones such as Spectre.

zwz9U1ixura9 - June 2, 2020, 7:50 pm

Casino royale was the best one that Daniel Craig did. I also like Piece Brosnan ones as well, especially the world is not enough

Megatron - June 3, 2020, 4:41 pm

(Jun 2, 2020 07:50 PM)zwz9U1ixura9 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Casino royale was the best one that Daniel Craig did. I also like Piece Brosnan ones as well, especially the world is not enough Tomorrow Never Dies, The World Is Not Enough, and Die Another Day are some of the very few Bond films I haven't actually seen. I've only seen Brosnan in GoldenEye. I wonder if they're as good or not.

zwz9U1ixura9 - June 3, 2020, 5:24 pm

(Jun 3, 2020 04:41 PM)Megatron Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Tomorrow Never Dies, The World Is Not Enough, and Die Another Day are some of the very few Bond films I haven't actually seen. I've only seen Brosnan in GoldenEye. I wonder if they're as good or not.

You should see them, they're the best ones. Maybe its because im biased though, i grew up watching Brosnan as James Bond haha. It brings back a lot of memories!

q8yas - June 3, 2020, 6:18 pm

the one name "i think" Die after tomorrow and golden mabye ;]

mindshift5 - September 24, 2020, 4:19 pm

I like Spectre much more.... It was pretty good

Bob the Builder - September 29, 2020, 11:01 pm

(May 27, 2020 10:56 AM)Megatron Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The James Bond franchise is one of those that seems like it will never go away. There are a ton of films, most of them being average-good and some of them being great. Which James Bond (007) film is your favorite, and why?

My favorite is Dr. No, just because it is the first one and it seems so different and original compared to the other ones. Some honorable mentions for me would be The Man With the Golden Gun, Goldfinger, and Goldeneye (probably because I'm nostalgic about the N64 game).

Skyfall is a good movie by James bond, Skyfall is a hugely enjoyable action spectacular movie.

jecoylecroy - October 1, 2020, 1:01 am

My favorite James Bond movie is Die Another Day. I like also the The World is not Enough.

Bob the Builder - October 1, 2020, 2:09 am

The best movie of james Bond is "Spectre" James Bond receives an obscure message from M about a sinister organisation, 'SPECTRE'. With the help of Madeleine, he uncovers the conspiracy, only to face an ugly truth.

mike.vronsky - October 1, 2020, 4:30 am

James bond is one of best actor and his each movie is best but one of his best movie is "Spectre" James Bond receives an obscure message from M about a sinister organisation, 'SPECTRE'.

bevc - October 1, 2020, 4:45 am

They say that a Bond movie is as good as its villain, and that's usually a good indicator.

My personal favourites, I really loved 'Skyfall', I thought that one was quality (especially Javier Barden throwing a grenade in an extraordinarily camp way), also love 'Goldeneye', and I think they did Pierce Brosnan a big disservice with the other movies, because he was great but the other movies with him were terrible.

My favourite Bond though is Timothy Dalton, weirdly, because I read the books and Dalton is exactly how Bond is described in the novels, he's kinda dark and broken, he's not a fun-time ladies' man, he's a basket-case who just wants out.

Obviously Connery was cool as fuck, 'Goldfinger' probably my favourite there.

Free Kurdistan - October 1, 2020, 4:48 am

Skyfall has to be the one for me. The soundtrack is also utterly perfect.

dr3sta - October 8, 2020, 6:02 am

(May 29, 2020 07:35 AM)InternetProxy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Goldfinger is simply one of the best entries in the 007 franchise. Goldfinger had the elements to form a good spy thriller. The story was fun and quite humorous at times.

This. Also best James bond theme imo - Diamonds Are Forever has a really good theme as well

AmineB - October 8, 2020, 10:38 am

Mine also "Dr. No" yeah i agree because it is the first one and it seems so different and original compared to the other ones. i agree with you one of my favorite movie

tech_study - October 8, 2020, 12:45 pm

Oof this is a tough one but ima go with casino royale

Doom - October 8, 2020, 3:15 pm

My favourite James Bond movies are the Pierce Brosnan ones, I grew up watching his movies and they are very nostalgic to me.

Bob the Builder - October 8, 2020, 9:57 pm

(Oct 1, 2020 01:01 AM)jecoylecroy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My favorite James Bond movie is Die Another Day. I like also the The World is not Enough.

Die Another Day was the most commercially successful movie of James bond.

LionServers - October 24, 2020, 11:54 am

I like Skyfall because of the musics, actings and director's view.

MartyMcFly - October 25, 2020, 12:40 pm

I've never seen a James Bond movie. Can I just pick any of the recent ones and dive right in or do I need to start with an earlier film to get the background / lore of the story?

Megatron - October 25, 2020, 2:21 pm

(Oct 25, 2020 12:40 PM)MartyMcFly Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've never seen a James Bond movie. Can I just pick any of the recent ones and dive right in or do I need to start with an earlier film to get the background / lore of the story?

Most of them, especially now, are isolated stories where you can dive in, although some of the earlier ones do capture the true, traditional essence of the character. It might be helpful, however, to check out his Wikipedia page and get familiar with some of the characters and their dynamics.

Mr.Peanut - October 25, 2020, 6:20 pm

Big Bond fan. Casino Royale or Skyfall for Craig era. Die Another Day or GoldenEye for 90's era.

Stuck between those 2 eras/4 movies

Deany - October 25, 2020, 10:16 pm

I keep listening to James Bond remixes on Youtube. Has such good soundtracks ahh!

DigitalDragon - December 16, 2020, 10:22 pm

The Living Daylights.

One of the best opening scenes in a Bond movie (when the training exercise on Gibraltar goes really wrong).

Dalton is nails as an antidote to the rubbish Moore-era Bond films,

The fight scene in the kitchen is really well done (best until the really brutal Daniel Craig style).

But lastly, proves how dated things are when the Afghan Mujahideen are our mates.....

Exalted - December 17, 2020, 1:46 am

From Russia with Love, Goldfinger, You Only Live Twice, Octopussy, Licence to Kill, GoldenEye and The World Is Not Enough are my favourite James Bond movies.

Alex J - December 22, 2020, 3:42 pm

I personally like quantum of solace

RTKN - December 22, 2020, 3:58 pm

Casino Royale for me guys

AlbanianBadGuy - December 30, 2020, 4:54 pm

All of them is very nice always watch them

2xTheTap115 - January 2, 2021, 2:46 am

Definitely Skyfall, not only for a great acting game, but also for an amazing soundtrack

Hectorhill - May 30, 2021, 8:44 pm

My fav james bond movie is Trevelyan

kane2026 - June 3, 2021, 11:31 pm

For me it has always been Goldeneye, first Bond movie I saw as a kid at the cinema. It has a dense plot with a somewhat mercurial 007.

I am surprised by the number of people mentioning Quantum of Solace. Generally by reviewers regarded as a lesser Bond movie. I personally like it through, the political intrigue feels all too real.

Deany - June 3, 2021, 11:40 pm

Damn, looking back at this thread I actually forgot how good The World Is Not Enough was...

user123 - June 5, 2021, 1:39 pm

Goldfinger is my favorite one

Doctor. - June 5, 2021, 7:31 pm

The world is not enough is amazing

Lilith - June 5, 2021, 11:22 pm

Goldfinger is the most nostalgic one for me. I grew up watching all of the James Bond movies with my family but that's the one that stuck with me the most. As for the one I find myself going back to the most in recent years, Skyfall for me. God Javier Bardem just does villains so fucking well, it's impossible for me to not love that movie.

Megatron - June 6, 2021, 9:52 am

(Jun 5, 2021 07:31 PM)Legendary DrSpicyHot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The world is not enough is amazing This and Tomorrow Never Dies are two that I've actually never seen. I'll have to sit down and watch World is Not Enough at some point.

Tyr - June 7, 2021, 2:49 am

I would have to say Casino Royale.

Real Muthaphukkin G - June 17, 2021, 1:42 am

Casino Royale is hands down the best bond film for me

Yanix - June 17, 2021, 6:52 am

GoldenEye was one of my top favorite :D

Simke - June 17, 2021, 7:33 am

My favorite is Skyfall and after that one Spectre

wow - June 18, 2021, 5:12 am

(Jun 17, 2021 07:33 AM)Simke Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My favorite is Skyfall and after that one Spectre Skyfall and Spectre bang'd for me. I like the old Jame Bond films but I like that these two were a bit tougher, gritty and a little more realistic.

Yanix - June 18, 2021, 6:36 am

(Jun 18, 2021 05:12 AM)wowthathurts Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Skyfall and Spectre bang'd for me. I like the old Jame Bond films but I like that these two were a bit tougher, gritty and a little more realistic. Nice choice bro they were pretty good as well ???