Working out changes your life, even if its for 15 minutes a day at the minimum it's a way to relieve stress and after completing it you feel more motivated and determined to get your work done.

That's really true. You tend to stay away from your phone and stuff.

self image create anything in the end your amount of success, motivation drive all comes and end with that.

i changed myself and gained more confidence and now i'm productive.

also there you have to have good nutrition, sleep good, exercise, drink tea and stuff like this.

see how you can get the most benefits to give your brain a boost.

^ I agree with this as well.

Also, it's always been a part of me to succeed and work hard. If you need some money, go out and get a job. Do research on which jobs pay the most and get them. Come home and have side projects that you do on the Internet. I mean, that's a full days work, what else are you going to do? Sit on your computer, look at Facebook all day or play games all day? Nothing wrong with games (FB is lame though), but you get back what you put in. Work hard, meet people, make moves.

I assume that they get tired off how they are living and they make changes and results in them getting motivated.

I was struggling a lot but I started watching motivational videos a lot. Especially TED talks and helped tremendously.

Not to mention now for the guy that I work he gives us all motivational speech every 2 weeks on Mondays before starting our work and it helps a lot. Like you start to work so motivated and this leads to a huge success. For example jobs get done before deadline which leads into bonuses and such. I am actually really happy that I met this person and it is an honour to be part of his team.

It all depends on what your end goal is.

Do you want money? Work hard for it

Do you want to get better at a hobby ? Keep practicing etc

I'm not talking to you as someone successful, but I need to share with you my advice. Get away from toxic environments. I have suffered from this, and still suffer to a degree. I've been dragged down, not the slightest room for motivation. Make sure you are happy with yourself and people around you and motivation will come.

it is really one of those things you will never know most of the time they wake up and get this click in their head and that is enough to change their life around.

Well i had an EX GF .. one day she told me im the only guy she hang out and she have money on her

I was feel wtf(i didnt even have a job there) it was before 10-11 years

Also a family member of me was called me always : useless etc

So one day i put my brain.exe on and i found a way to work

That was the :EWHORING:

The idea was come from Facebook,i made a fake profile for complete fun

And horny guys was added me , hey baby call me i want to see you

So i searcha bit and i found how to fake the camera with manycam program

So my journey started

After 5+years , i got 2business run , my own own house , my car , and my family

Ofcourse i have stop ewhoring cause im a father now But i keep some sales for help others with my knowledge

But yes the insipiration was MY FUGG EX GIRL

And the family member

When i notice i have enought brain , i did more things , can't say it here ofcourse

SO i built my legacy in just 5years , and the whole future for my baby already bad work?Sure was bad

but i took the risk

And yes evrything was start from Fun from just a fake facebook profile and just 20% of brain run

It depends on what you're failing to get motivated at. Sometimes no matter how motivated you are you just won't be good at something so it's better to try something else.
