Thread: How do you feel today?

It's rainy in here and I feel somewhat depressed. I had my coffee and I'm planning to continue working tomorrow. Next month I'll be 25 and I still don't have a boyfriend but to be honest you better be single instead of being annoyed by someone who is not good for you.

I'm feeling good because I actually can live life again! I hope you start to feel better op!

I'm feeling good, I just finished a paper for my college course and submitted it. Oddly enough, it didn't take me long to write it, which I'm always grateful for. And today was the deadline. Lol.

I mean I suppose I get it why some people feel depressed on rainy days due to the Sun not being out and whatnot, but I relish the times where it's raining at night so I can more easily fall asleep.

I woke up with a light hangover. Sleep quality wasn't great of course and the lack of it in general doesn't help either. I got the day off so I will chill tonight.

Megatron - May 29, 2020, 7:54 am

I slept very well and I'm feeling pretty good. Not too excited about finals next week, but at least summer is right around the corner.

Fucking weird. I haven't smoked a cigarette all day (trying to quit), I feel all tingly and shit. I stopped drinking about 3 weeks ago as well. I haven't been completely sober (no drugs, alcohol, or nicotine) in a long ass time.

It's sunny with me. I look out the window, drink my first coffee and smile to myself. I feel good and I know it will be good. The ground is positive thinking and implementation of your resolutions?

P.S. Do not worry dear friend, that you are alone sooner or later you will meet someone who will be worth spending your life with you. For many years I thought that I was written to grow old alone until she came here and... I have to wash dishes after myself???

You're welcome, I also browse HF because nothing special happens on Facebook?

bluud - June 1, 2020, 3:00 am

I'm feeling alright, been up all night. Bored, waiting for some people to come online to play some video games with :)

some-dude - June 1, 2020, 3:07 am

Pretty lousy to be fair, the weather is hot and sunny but recently lost my job and ofc no-one is hiring at the moment, I am browsing online and have used some of what little money I had put aside in the marketplace but Alas, still no joy!

I am usually quite a positive person but life is slowly grinding me down, bills are coming, kids are bored and lockdown seems like it will never end, hoping for some positivity to come my way soon.

Really good today. Thanks for asking. I've got a lot of energy and mood to do a lot of stuff. Probably I gonna end coding all day or do something productive.
