[Should've been posted hours ago]

Instalation & UI:

Simple and easy. I download the software, ran the exe file.

Prepared the proxies file and texts in 2 separate text files, 1 for welcome messages, and 1 for leaving messages.

Functions:

Chose the settings for the bot smoothly: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

At first I was trying to test using links as messages but it kept getting flagged i assume as links had no clicks. So If you're planning on promoting links you will have to keep playing around and keep changing the format to avoid getting flags.

So I then Decided to test it using a SnapChat account to see how many adds I will get. So I ran the bot again, and I instantly started seeing results: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Personal Thoughts:

Bot is easy to use, it just might be pain in the ass for some people trying to reconfigure the bot every time they run the bot.

Only things which you will focus your time most on which the bot isn't a blame on is preparing and keep changing the messages to be sent, and the proxies.

Proxies are bit pain in the ass cuz Omegle temp ban them after multiple usage. So with the current options, it's preferable to keep switching the proxies otherwise it gets really slow.

Downside is that you can't target send the messages to people where you share certain interests, but the seller told me that he's working into adding it.

Talking with the seller, he's planning to trying to add more features such as supporting rotating proxies, using API key to autoupdate proxy list, choosing shared interests, and few more.

Price wise, it's not expensive. As it's lifetime, I think the current price is resealable, especially considering that the seller is planning to keep updating it.

Looks really good, will be back to buy soon.

bluud - June 1, 2020, 2:30 am

If I didn't purchase one for $200 I would have taken this :(

In the case the bot I purchased ever goes down I will be back.

Do you have shadow ban detection?

Shared interests/topics is a feature I am currently adding, it will be released within a few days after I had enough time to test it.

A few posts up this was mentioned in the review posted by flavoral ^

Seems nice and well designed bot, but I would like to know better about your shadow ban detector.

Coding an omegle bot is fucking easy, it uses plain HTTP requests.

The main problem when we discuss of omegle bots is proxies, ONLY residential whitelisted proxies are working and even if you have a good pool to get those proxies, unlimited proxies pools don't exist (unless you are paying huge amount but it wouldn't be worth to use with omegle).

So a good bot should detect well bans to limit the amount of proxies getting banned, because every time you spam a text that has been shadow banned your proxy get blacklisted on omegle, you can easily understand how easy is to get a whole proxies pool banned in a few minutes.

So my question is, you say you have ban detector, how it works?

And also can it works with every kind of proxies?

Because I know for sure is impossible to detect bans with every kind of proxies.

If you can't optimize bans running this bot would have crazy costs to get proxies.

Thank you for your comment.

Yes, I am aware of how Omegle handles these shadow bans, and that they blacklist certain messages and that this can cause whole proxy pools to be banned.

exOmggle detects these shadow bans by doing certain checks after each connection that has been made.

Could you elaborate a bit more regarding "works with every kind of proxies?" and "impossible to detect bans with every kind of proxies" because I have yet to experience any problems detecting them? All the tests that I have done have been with publicly available proxies.

I am adding support for rotating proxies within the next few days.

The problem is with rotating every request proxies, with this kind of proxies is impossible to detect bans.

Anyway i see you are using a good method to detect bans, good luck with sales man

What I like about it (from the videos I saw so far) is that it's fast AF, so it's all about having decent proxies and the bot would do wonders. I'll definitely contact you ASAP when I sort out my BTC so I can purchase it cuz I only have G??Pal for now.

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. This OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley

Will there be a Linux CLI version? I would prefer to run it on my dedicated server 24/7 via terminal.
Also do you have a recommended proxy source with the purchase?
