Just want to let you guys know that Quant is already popping, up from $5 to over $7 in a couple days (40% gain). It's all time high is at $15 but I have a feeling it's about to surpass that soon, get in while you guys can.

Why is it going to pop?

Explained by another user^

They are planning on releasing a lot of stuff this year, and have now broken through in marketing as they have grown exponentially in their social media followings just this year, which is important because TONS of new people are now learning about this crypto and are wanting to buy in.

Wanted to post another thread but found this so I'll write it here. Too bad I missed your call. I think Quant is an actual hidden gem, congrats if you're still holding, I just loaded up my bag.

Reasons?

Oracle's founder and CTO is Larry Ellison, who is "close friends" with Musk.

He's also "Tesla's second-biggest individual shareholder after Musk." source:

<https://markets.businessinsider.com/news/stocks/oracle-cofounder-larry-ellison-scores-12-billion-gain-tesla-stock-2021-1-1029956072>

And he is rumoured to be a Bitcoin fan and Oracle is rumoured to follow Tesla's footsteps in buying Bitcoin.

Now it's all rumours and what it has to do with anything anyway?

Do with this info as you will, but to me Oracle's startup at a rank #82 seems like possibly a good opportunity.

How do people even buy coins like this in the US? I don't see this on Coinbase Pro, Binance.US, or Gemini

You can see exchanges it's listed on here: <https://coinmarketcap.com/currencies/quant/markets/>

Kucoin? Or if nothing else works, a decentralized Uniswap. ?
