Bitcoin Discusion
2020-06-04

As of 2:42 PM EST we are at 9820, a big jump from yesterday where we were comfortable sitting at ~9500 and holding well.

Where do you think we go from here? Is this the jump for the crash to 8000? Or are slowly going to edge ourselves above 10K over today and the next few days.

I opened this discussion to start a dialogue with where BTC is going and get users in the crypto space to challenge eachother and share eachother's speculations.

Personally, I just longed BTC at 9800, I think we'll hit 10k (not that we'll stay there, but I think before any drop the hype will bring us to 10k by tonight).

My prediction is that it's going to stabilize around 10k or above sooner or later. It has the tendency to do so.

What do you think will happen in the next 2 days specifically?
