Thread: Your opinion on monetizing techniques

Hello dear HF members,

Lately I've been more active on reading about those pinned/premium techniques. I even contacted some of the guys who's promising 500$ as soon as I work with their method.

Now, I have grown up in difficult condition and none wanted to teach something that could generate money easily. I mean is it reasonable to think that you can keep earning 500$ daily (or let's say weekly) if you once pay 30-40$?

Please share your opinion and experience. Did you earn with those techniques or do you recommend trying them...because I am still doubting.

Here is what I found on these methods

- Many of them are already public, obsolete and saturated

- Yes, you can make money with them but not as easily as advertised

I think that way too. Especially the 2nd part. I saw many people ordering those methods and just any of them comes back with review. To be honest I don't see any negative review there either...but still.

While some straight up lie I would say that part of the methods you see here could actually make you 500$/month, just not right now. Those methods are methods that once could give 500$/month with the right time invested into it and right now are just saturated, not working anymore and that's why they're selling it.

An investment if it is sure to have a profitability behind why not

"In order to make money you need money" that quote from a book about Fundamental of carding by someone that I already forget what his name. White, Gray or black everything in the end is need little investment, but you can reduce the cost by doing it with other who have strong willing and want work fully without hesitation.
