You just being scammed.

There is no working exploit that allows you to execute an exe file through a JPEG image

Ampere - June 11, 2020, 1:00 am

You could add an EXE in the Alternative Data Stream of a JPEG...but you would still need a way to directly call it.

its not the seller is the problem. but
1. seller can't sell here because of too many readytoabuse people.
2. not everyone who seek for it can actually afford it.
3. many is just random junks.

you want to buy real working silent exploit. doc or pdf. and you have budget $1k and above. drop me a chat.
and we proceed. escrow is welcome.

Hey man, I don't know what you think you're looking for, but I don't think it exists. Real hackers man their own tools, and I've never heard of a real hacker with a "silent jpg exploit tool of text exploit tool." I've met a lot of hackers in my day, and none of them have ever had one of those in their tool bag. I'd be careful if anyone says they can sell you such a thing, cause it's about as real as a "backsploit frame burner exploit".

Stay programmed, don't get scammed!
:wq!
