Thread: Doxing Myself and Result is so kind "unexpected"

doomkit - June 10, 2020, 7:40 am

So Doxing myself and result is kind surprise for me, i make lot OPSEC mistake, so yeah i kind screw up, if someone want searching about me they surely can easily find it, i already "patch up" and clean up "the sensitive information" that may cause harm, is all because a damn old account that i create 5 years ago. the community that account is origin receive heavy breach and force close up. Later when i doxing i found my email on HBP and then the rest is like "in guide how track people". I don't plan to hide all about me, but because the nature of "what we do here" i just do what most people do to keep they safe not just for they-self but people they love to, from "naughty and bad person".

is also already 4 years since i join this community, is very long way and many think happen, i also now grow up and become adult, doing college look for job like other people in here to, thinking how make myself and parent happy etc. there many thing that i need fix and to do, to make myself more better.

Oh yeah i also have twitter, since is name is 100% same with my account name is actually useless to keep hide it (fast or not people will find it i also want start business so is kind good for PR) i also make blog (maybe i post thread about it long time ago in here) if you want say hello or just chit chat hit me on @doomsecurity you can also find link to my blog.

Hope everyone Health and safe. this week is full of madness for some of us, Stay Strong.

note: sorry for bad English and messy write

You can find something on almost everyone if you look hard enough. Good job cleaning up your tracks though OP. Always good to stay updated on the vulnerability of your accounts and personal info.

The best of luck with cleaning it all up completely, I'm sure that someone here would be willing to help you.
