Computer and phone is not a valid answer in this case.

For me it would have to be my Lenovo Explorer as I also got it at a cheap price at the time.

If it can't be either of those two you mentioned OP then I suppose the most fun electronic thing I own is my television. I enjoy watching my various streaming services on it and the other numerous features it possesses.

I'd say my PlayStation 4 or my Switch. I use my PS4 to play most of my games and to stream, and I usually play my Nintendo Switch with my girlfriend or friends when drinking or just hanging out.

I'll have to say it's either my AirPods or my PS4. I use them all the time so it's either of them.

I don't really use any electronic other than my pc and my phone sometimes

I've had the most fun with my PS4 in recent years. If I'm being realistic, I could just include all of the game consoles I own. My laptop is fun, don't get me wrong, but it doesn't provide the same instant gratification as game consoles.
