Thread: Help Desk on Hacking / PenTesting related | Feel free to ask me anything |

Old Thread : <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5132321>

Just back to HF recently, I would like to start the Help Desk once again.
By the way, during this period, I had also achieved my OSCP and CISA certification.

Quote:I am opening this help desk only because I have seen a lot of members creating question threads based on a simple question and I do not think that they are necessary.

Before you ask a question, make sure that you have already tried to research it.
Secondly, I have to clarify that I am not a super hacker or something, however, I am experienced!
I would like to give my best to help with what I know.

Do NOT PM me about the question, simply just post a reply here, thanks.

Have a nice day ?

Current help desk members (Pm me if you like help too):

nice, might be stupid question for some, but not for me

how long does it take to learn white hat and get certs needed and if you are lucky to actually get a job in this industry?

It really depend on your current knowledges.

As a cyber security expert, there are also many pathways,

Such as systems, web, network etc.

For example, if you are a web developer right now, wanted to achieve working as a web security guy / pentester , it won't take long if you try hard.
