Hello HF,

I am going to LA in a month with a friend to visit a friend. I've never been there and I'm going there to have a good time.

Question is, are bars/clubs/etc open? I know venice beach is open with a good amount of restaurants still being closed. So what the flying fuk can I do there?

Not yet but if you smoke you can smoke basically just about anywhere, parks are still open and shit. You can go to echo park / Elysian park it's chill. Overlooks the dodger stadium.

I was in dtla and Hollywood when the protests were going down, you can still get around and shit. Just be careful cause cops will pull people over for random shit.

Yes, I'm in LA.

It's so annoying out here right now. The sky is filled with fireworks, it sounds like WW2 all day long. The 405 is also back to being chaotic.

Many places have opened back up already. Plenty (but not "most") of restaurants are back to dining in, and stores are transitioning away from curbside-only.

More restrictions are getting lifted each week. But there are still lines outside of stores.

I just went to the mall to go shopping and the food court was already crowded again w/ unmasked people.

The protests/riots have died down quite quickly and significantly.

Now I know LA has tons of gold diggers and prostitutes. But what bar/club do you recommend (if open) where there are sluts around? Like college girls who tryna fuk.
