

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Would You Go To Great Lengths To Save A Family Member?

Lindros - June 22, 2020, 4:25 pm

Alright, so i'm going to have to come up with something sufficiently disturbing in this hypothetical to get the ball rolling.

1. Would you commit incest with a immediate family member (or extended) to save their life. If yes, does this apply to all of them or some of them? Say if someone had a gun to their head and demanded that it be done or else.

2. If no to the above, would you commit a serious crime for your family member? If so, what crimes hypothetically speaking.

?ystem - June 22, 2020, 4:53 pm

I'm going to have to give the whole incest thing a hard no, but I would commit a serious crime if it meant doing the opposite would hurt my family. I would go all the way and even say murder is a possibility. Not that I plan or want to kill anyone, but I care too much for certain members of my family.

X-32 - June 22, 2020, 4:56 pm

OP is really scaring me with number 1.

Only a certain kind of person would just casually think about that and decide to post about it on HF.

Lindros - June 22, 2020, 4:59 pm

(Jun 22, 2020 04:56 PM)X-32 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) OP is really scaring me with number 1.

Only a certain kind of person would just casually think about that and decide to post about it on HF. It's a hypothetical thought game, get over yourself.

Simplex - June 22, 2020, 5:05 pm

What a twisted question... I like it.

I would never commit incest with an immediate family member to save their life. That said I have a hot step cousin who I wouldn't mind using.

The only person I would commit a serious crime for to save their life would be if I had a kid and thankfully I don't yet.

Lindros - June 22, 2020, 5:08 pm

(Jun 22, 2020 05:05 PM)Simplex Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What a twisted question... I like it.

I would never commit incest with an immediate family member to save their life. That said I have a hot step cousin who I wouldn't mind using.

The only person I would commit a serious crime for to save their life would be if I had a kid and thankfully I don't yet.

Yeah, I would say no to the incest at all costs.

However, anything else I would do for my family if I thought I could get away with it.

Simplex - June 22, 2020, 5:13 pm

(Jun 22, 2020 05:08 PM)Lindros Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) However, anything else I would do for my family if I thought I could get away with it. Yeah I would do anything too if there was no risk attached to it too. I'm saying if there was a risk the only person I could see me taking the risk of getting caught is a child. I believe that your child is the only person worth dying or going to prison for in life and I don't even have one lmao.

Prawnster - June 22, 2020, 5:17 pm

Never would do any form of the incest shit with any family but would happily commit a serious crime and deal with the consequences as long as it meant they are all safe and live perfectly - I'd do that without a 2nd thought.

Nyx - June 22, 2020, 6:03 pm

I would die for my family.

This question reminds me of those people that claim they will never snitch on someone if they get sent to prison and then end up doing so. You never know how you will react until the situation is thrust in front of you.

I have been raised with family ideals and that family always comes first. I would do anything for my family.

telly - June 22, 2020, 10:16 pm

if my family was in danger i would commit murder if it means saving them. depending on the situation of course

bevc - June 22, 2020, 10:30 pm

(Jun 22, 2020 06:03 PM)Nyx Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You never know how you will react until the situation is thrust in front of you.

This is true. You don't really know how you'd react until the situation occurs. This is the main reason why militaries drill soldiers, so that when they're in actual combat, they react instinctively in the 'correct' way. My grandfather was in the army, and he said that you don't want your comrades to be brave, you want them to be well-trained cowards, because brave soldiers get themselves and their comrades killed.

So would I give up a kidney or something for a family member? Yes. Would I murder someone? Depends on the cirscs. If somebody was going to kill my wife and I had the opportunity to kill them first, and the time to analyse correctly and it was her or them, then yes.

Beherit - June 22, 2020, 11:15 pm

I like these types of posts. No to #1. Yes to #2, murder, I guess.

MightyOne - June 22, 2020, 11:59 pm

(Jun 22, 2020 04:25 PM)Lindros Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Alright, so i'm going to have to come up with something sufficiently disturbing in this hypothetical to get the ball rolling.

1. Would you commit incest with a immediate family member (or extended) to save their life. If yes, does this apply to all of them or some of them? Say if someone had a gun to their head and demanded that it be done or else.

2. If no to the above, would you commit a serious crime for your family member? If so, what crimes hypothetically speaking.

1 an obvious yes? i cant understand how people say no to this, are you kids?

Its just sex, you don't even have to be attracted to them or feel love as to a couple, and its to save their lives. that's a no brainer for me.

reminds me of all those weird Japanese shows

2. i would to an extent.. i would not kill somebody or do something that will fuck up my life as well for the rest of my life.

Zoomers - June 23, 2020, 12:01 am dam this question is a bit weird. I would murder someone, but I would not do question #1. I would setup a plan of course. I would not be weak minded.

Lindros - June 23, 2020, 12:19 am

(Jun 22, 2020 10:30 PM)bevc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is true. You don't really know how you'd react until the situation occurs. This is the main reason why militaries drill soldiers, so that when they're in actual combat, they react instinctively in the 'correct' way. My grandfather was in the army, and he said that you don't want your comrades to be brave, you want them to be well-trained cowards, because brave soldiers get themselves and their comrades killed.

So would I give up a kidney or something for a family member? Yes. Would I murder someone? Depends on the circs. If somebody was going to kill my wife and I had the opportunity to kill them first, and the time to analyse correctly and it was her or them, then yes.

"A good soldier is a coward that is brave sometimes." Friedhelm Winter

That quote is from Generation War, great series. It's kinda like a German band of brothers. German ww2 soldier perspective.

Wespa - June 23, 2020, 1:42 am

1) nah

2) yeah, id go very very far.

Nyx - June 23, 2020, 5:30 am

(Jun 23, 2020 12:19 AM)Lindros Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) "A good soldier is a coward that is brave sometimes." Friedhelm Winter

That quote is from Generation War, great series. It's kinda like a German band of brothers. German ww2 soldier perspective.

Fear is an emotion that means you are thinking clearly.

If you are not afraid then you won't have your survivor instincts running in your subconscious.

Your body will react to the fear you are feeling and do it's best to keep you alive.

Fear is one of those emotions that is needed in war, especially for soldiers.

If a soldier went into combat without feeling any sort of fear, he more than likely will not be as careful with his actions as someone who is afraid.

However, just because one is afraid does not mean they cannot act bravely. You can be afraid, and still let your courage guide you in battle.

Maskin - June 23, 2020, 5:34 am

Incest no. Serious crime yes.

Renowned - June 23, 2020, 5:37 am

If I had absolutely no other way, of course I'd fuck a family member to save them...

.TEN - June 23, 2020, 5:37 am

(Jun 22, 2020 04:25 PM)Lindros Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Alright, so i'm going to have to come up with something sufficiently disturbing in this hypothetical to get the ball rolling.

1. Would you commit incest with a immediate family member (or extended) to save their life. If yes, does this apply to all of them or some of them? Say if someone had a gun to their head and demanded that it be done or else.

2. If no to the above, would you commit a serious crime for your family member? If so, what crimes hypothetically speaking.

I'd do anything to safe my family. I'd even shoot myself in order to save a family member