Thread: What will you do when covid ends?

Wespa - June 23, 2020, 5:45 am

I'm talking about when it's not a worry anymore.

I want to go on a trip somewhere with my mates.

What are your plans?

Renowned - June 23, 2020, 5:47 am

Take a vacation with my girl, this whole thing has been a mad ride lol.

Agent Shark - June 23, 2020, 5:50 am

Honestly, not much different. Maybe do a few more things. We have weddings planned for 2020 but we will see how those play out with cases still rising and a second wave potential showing.

Ivex - June 23, 2020, 5:57 am

I'm moving countries for a 6 month uni exchange in January as long as it's over by then.

Fingers crossed travel is allowed by then.

If all goes well by then I'll be deep into another business, irl shit gets me so motivated. I love having that self employed schedule. Working late, getting up early even if you don't want to but being low key excited over little shit everyday. Hopefully will be producing more media, music/anything graphics related. I miss that feeling rushing to vendors/stores, running late, meeting new customers/people on a daily.

I plan to travel somewhere within the UK or some European country when lockdown starts to lift across the world.

Method - June 23, 2020, 6:20 am me and my mate already planned to go for a 2 week trip. But honestly I'm just waiting to have a night in the city again. Most things are opening now but I'm not risking going out in medium crowds at the moment.

When Covid ends and everyone have taken the vaccine...I will surely go home and visit our to our Family home.

I really miss my Mom, my Aunt and my Siblings and all of my nephews.

It's been 4 months now that we haven't seeing each other although we call them every now and then but to see them and be with them is much more better :D

MarvinMalware - June 23, 2020, 6:27 am

I plan to go camping with my girl and some friends, I've been waiting for this for quite a while I'm extremely excited.

I didn't mean get away from her, get away with! lol.

That must suck being so far away though.

Gotcha.

Yeah mean, we were looking to shorten the distance and this pandemic fucked up everything :D

Maskin - June 23, 2020, 7:46 am

An expensive vacation somewhere with all the stock profits I'll have when its over ?

MightyOne - June 23, 2020, 8:12 am

I believe it will last in the up coming year or so until it will slowly leave us.

Skateboard - June 23, 2020, 10:57 am

I'm not sure what I will do first. It's pretty much still on lockdown.

Bastille - June 23, 2020, 11:00 am

Stay at home, continue to learn things regarding computing, hacking, and security

Things will not be very different from now to be honest ??

Bacardi Cola Lime - June 23, 2020, 11:12 am

I will start working without a mask for starters haha. It's a struggle now that I work when the temperature outside hits over 32 degrees Celsius.

In that case I bet that covid has not affected you too much.

A + - June 23, 2020, 3:33 pm

Is it ever going to end lol? I just got an email from my apartment complex saying somebody here has it.

I'm looking forward to hitting the gym regularly again. Going back to school and finishing my degree, that sort of thing.

B?????araka - June 23, 2020, 3:44 pm

Its technically over here but we just have to wear masks. I'm still going to try and stay low for a while longer since the rate of the spread has increased.

SIM-4747314 - June 23, 2020, 3:54 pm

Will take wife and son somewhere nice for few days to forget all this mess.

Beherit - June 24, 2020, 12:27 am

Well, this pandemic hasn't hindered my social life that much since I'm usually on my PC most of the day and talking with friends online, so I think I'll just be doing the same thing, if not, I'll be going back to work or finding a new job.

Artisan - June 24, 2020, 2:37 am

Gonna head over to a cafe with a bunch of friends, sip on a latte with a ciggy in between my fingers and hear them bitch about people.

Skateboard - June 24, 2020, 5:06 am

I'm probably going to go out to places where I once couldn't xD

Bossk - June 24, 2020, 6:00 am

I will enjoy a nice weekend in brussels

Freddy Kru?ger - June 24, 2020, 6:21 am

My girl had to quarantine with her family in another country and it's been shit. Hopefully I'll be able to see her when all this shit is over.

Yeah that's the bad thing about long distance relationships right now.

crixus - June 24, 2020, 7:03 am

Sure go more bars and go more out to malls etc.

Yes I miss the periods when the areas full of people and full of live. now the streets are dead.

hollic - June 24, 2020, 8:07 am

I'm planning on taking a trip to the U.S to see some friends as soon as flights reopen.

Aedan_ - June 24, 2020, 8:09 am

Can't wait to start playing soccer games again with my team and hanging out with friends at ease between ourselves and out in public having parties.

If anything, it has flooded the dating market. The amount of singles currently on [BRAND NAME REMOVED] and the likes is incredible. You'd be surprised how many nudes I've been getting ever since this whole pandemic started. Honestly, not complaining.

If there was ever a time for online dating, it'd be now.

.TEN - June 24, 2020, 8:16 am a foreign holiday with friends, we missed one in May due to COVID19.

Pawnhub - June 24, 2020, 8:45 am

Well right now just work work work, a little archery practice and watching all the drama unfolding around the protests. Given in 3-4 months hunting season will be around and I got a deed to a nice big private property to hunt on with 4000 acres. So when that comes I'll be going out 5 days at a time camping, drinking and partying at night and hunting around early dawn every few weeks.
