Thread: Roast My Artwork! - ApeCode Designs

Deities - June 25, 2020, 3:49 pm

Ready? Set! GO!

Art Review

I've been drawing for a couple years now. Purely casually and for fun as a hobby. I always want to improve my illustrations and designs and so I figured I'd showcase some of my art and let you guys tear it apart on how to get better!

While the title of this thread is a bit comical, I would actually love to get proper critique of my designs and ideas on how to improve! If you want to check out more recent work, check out @ApeCode_Designs

See my most recent work in this thread! I update it frequently!

those look sick as fugg bro, nice job:)
maybe try with colors as well?

High Council - June 25, 2020, 3:57 pm

I like mountains, these are missing mountains.

Best regards

You're right! I forgot to post some of my colored stuff. I primarily draw black and white, so its just the style I'm comfortable with. I could definitely get better in colors. Here's some of my colored in designs:

I haven't posted all my work, but you're right! Needs more mountains!

Your designs are great, I like the colored ones especially. You seem to put a great deal of detail into each one. Keep up the good work, I can't wait to see what else you do!

Accord - June 25, 2020, 9:12 pm

Its all good for me, how am i going to criticize it??

Deities - July 1, 2020, 6:58 am

Just going to use this thread to update you guys on my new work! I'm going to put them in spoilers because they are kinda large for this site.

you should open a tattoo shop haha , those illustrations will surely fit as a tattoo .

Vitello - July 3, 2020, 5:25 am

I can't roast it, it is really good. You're very talented.

Do you sell any of your artwork?

They look really good honestly , my advice is to put something in the background , to populate it more , you should try creating stories with your drawings to , like a comic , you certainly do have a gift

Euro - July 4, 2020, 3:43 pm

Honestly can't roast this work, mine would be worse

Thank you! The art style is essentially tattoo art, I have a couple people who have put my art on their bodies and I'm always super grateful.

So, I'm rather new to the online social media scene. I don't have a shop or anything, but its a potential thing to look at for the future. I like complete products, so I wouldn't sell prints unless it was highly requested. I was actually thinking tarot card decks or illustrated calendars or something. What do you think?

Thank you! I've never thought about making comics, so that would be interesting to test out and play around with. I'll tag you if I do it :)

This was my first thought as well.

OP, I live with and have plenty of tattoo artist friends. Take your work to a shop and ask about apprenticeships! You're very talented for being purely a hobbyist.

Mitch - July 6, 2020, 9:01 am good shit man, I'm really liking this! I could definitely see you doing professional design work, keep it up king

New Artwork below.

How well do you think my artwork will work for small scale stuff? I'm actually thinking about having Hackforums members request very small artwork for bytes. Just to keep me active and the ideas flowing.

Either way, Here is some new art for this week!

Love it.!

You should consider making your own artwork page like on Instagram or Tumblr.

Brownie - August 1, 2020, 10:43 am

YOOOO!!!

These are amazing!!
Would like to see more!!

Free Kurdistan - August 1, 2020, 10:53 am

I thought this was art not a zoo?

Nah but fr can't put a finger on the work, it looks astonishing and you'd be a great tattoo artist for sure.

Chicago Kid - August 1, 2020, 9:03 pm

They all look clean. Keep it up. :)

bluud - August 2, 2020, 7:53 am

They all look niceeeee

I actually prefer the black and white, not a tattoo guy but I definitely see what others were talking about.

My favorite:

I'm actually colorblind (Not fully, but shades of colors always get confusing to me). Which is ironic considering I went to art school in my teens before switching to medicine as my profession. So.... black and white is the easiest for me to work with!

Appreciate it. I do want to try new styles and keep learning, so I might experiment soon.

Hmmm.... Mind blowing? That sounds like a fun thing to draw. Possible next drawing idea right there!

JFFSMN - August 6, 2020, 11:21 am

Nice work.

I would get the tentacle tongue tatted on me.
