Thread: Most nostalgic RAT you would want to see return

7 - June 26, 2020, 12:11 pm

Hi,

As the title says: What is your most nostalgic RAT you would like to see returned and why?
Not that I plan on returning them just out of interest.

HelloWorld.dat - June 26, 2020, 3:10 pm

I think maybe something like blackshades, or an improved nano would be interesting.

VisualSoft - June 26, 2020, 3:47 pm

I really loved Cybergate as native rat, it reminds me of the old days.
And for managed rat i would say Nanocore, It was the most advanced Rat for that time.

Obistone - June 26, 2020, 3:48 pm

LuminosityLink, NanoCore, and Imminent Monitor (4.5 or lower though)

7 - June 26, 2020, 3:50 pm

Yeah for sure in the earlier days for IM and even LL. NC was good i remember when Taylor first created it and purchased the early beta.

BS was the shit in its day too literally owned the whole collection.

I only ever messed around with cyber gate a little tbh. It actually continued for quite a while though. I was always testing new projects out at the time like legancylink with a built in crypter, bless assault lovely guy wonder where him and tweety went

Interesting to see that so far people preferred rats with more features that are non native than native.

Pernat1y - June 27, 2020, 7:25 am

Poison Ivy, ofc.

Having Bozok updated will be nice too.

SIM-3749878 - June 27, 2020, 7:30 am

CyberGate was the first RAT I used, I have some slight memories of it... Didn't it make a sound anytime a slave would connect?

RIP Juice WRLD - June 27, 2020, 7:38 am

What was that RAT everyone used back in the days? Something like ... DarkRAT? I remember it had a planet or meteor as its picture.

rsx - June 27, 2020, 7:45 am

Blackshades, even though I would never touch it because of the stigma lol

Exactly, DarkComet, that was the name! :D

Haha, man all the Minecraft servers I got from 12-year-olds from this.

Semmenial - June 27, 2020, 7:56 am

Blackshades RAT was probably the most well-known of them all besides the free Darkcomet.

The first RAT I played around with was Cybergate.

You're good man, they went after the developers for distributing it (not DarkComet specifically, but other big ones) and people who had huge botnets/clients.. I had a pretty few but I sold mine a lot. They probably couldn't prove anything now anyways, I doubt if you booted that PC up and launched DarkComet there would be any clients lol

The first one I was using was Poison Ivy.

But the one that I've liked the most was SpyNet, and DarkComet afterwards.

But SpyNet was my favorite, although buggy sometimes it was a great RAT

DarkComet clearly is one of the most popular RATS used. I would like to think the majority of people back then would have used this as a rat at some point so thats alot of OG's lol. I think I had a max of 70 connections at one time so never really tested its stability with alot of clients

Orcus is the name haha.. You mean the one that was made for legal purposes haha. God he used to get triggered. I think this is probably one of the better looking RATs of it's time but the fact you had to get it through the "GOD" himself. Saying that just triggered an idea in my head to create a new version of "Rap God" by Eminem and call it "RAT god".... I'm begining to feel like a rat god, rat DarkComet had stability issues for me. I remember getting a couple friends on it and it would randomly crash. Maybe it was just me though.

balha - June 28, 2020, 9:27 pm

During my adolescence I used to chat a lot, and my "cyberfriends" used Turkojan. I preferred to use the Xtreme Rat since it was very sophisticated for those years. There was also a lot of talk about Bifrost RAT. Later I opted for Dark Comet and in more recent times, the best RAT ever seen, Luminosity Link <3

Ok i want to say something about that.

I think, the best rat of all time Poison Ivy. Why am I saying that? Because this tool developed in 10-15 years ago. Coded in Delphi (Client) and Server (Asm). Very small size server. (6 kb) and it has great features like that;

- Multiple client creation
- Wifi plugin
- DirectX Screen Capture

etc...

So, maybe now very easy with .net framework but these things were not easy back then. Also, Pivy is still stable if you know how can you usage.

My second favorite tool is Bifrost.
