Ok the US government makes all crime legal for 24 hours in an effort to stop COVID. Who would be your first target

L0RE - June 26, 2020, 2:43 pm

How would legalising crime help stop COVID? Let's be like North Korea and Kill everyone who's infected I guess?

Crypticus - June 26, 2020, 2:47 pm

My first target would be the government

If the purge was to happen I'd go underground for 24 hours with my family. I wouldn't get involved with anything.

Probably go run up on the small banks

I would have my bestie John Wick help me out.

Artisan - June 26, 2020, 4:13 pm

I would not worry about killing people and worry more about staying alive and keeping them away from me and my family. If family members try to follow purge rules, I would tie them up and beat them senseless so they don't try it again. On a repeat offense I would stay away from them too.

It wouldn't. I think OP just wants to have a fun Purge discussion because why not.

Same answer ?

Spearmint - June 26, 2020, 5:25 pm

I would leave the country asap and casually hope my enemies burn. Not worth risking my life to settle any minor scores.

Simplex - June 26, 2020, 5:35 pm

I would go on vacation somewhere.

Legal for 24 hours? You haven't posted when will it happened :D

To take a human life is something massive. Not just something you can reasonably say, "alright time to go kill my high school bully for breaking all my pencils". A Hollywood style "purge" would take all the meaning out of it.

I would kill whoever came to kill me or the people I care the most about, aside from that I'd stay out of it.

Literally all the Hackuman alive right now. ??

And this purg-esque situation resolves the COVID-19 pandemic how...?

Same, I couldn't justify killing unless they tried it on me.
