Thread: Is 2020 the worst year since ww2

hayesh - June 26, 2020, 2:00 pm

I cant think of any other event since ww2 that compares to what we re experiencing now.Its like a shit sandwich with a side of turd

L0RE - June 26, 2020, 2:40 pm

I guess it is but there's been other disasters like Chernobyl that still effects people today if I'm not wrong

.TEN - June 26, 2020, 2:52 pm

We're only in June, almost July. There's 5 full months left for 2020 to redeem itself. For some individuals 2020 will still be their best year, for example if you won the lottery you're gonna love 2020

Basic bitches every year: 20XX year sucks! Next year is going to be my best year.

I remember in December everyone saying that about 2020 lol

Vibe - June 26, 2020, 3:18 pm

Little to early to the call the race but it's looking like a good bet

SIM-74411 - June 26, 2020, 3:36 pm

Nah, I don't think so.

We still have solid 6 months left, stay positive.

Xen - June 26, 2020, 3:54 pm

It's pretty awful but worse things have happened around WW2 and now. Many many more people have died in WW2 alone.

2019 and so far in 2020 have been shit for me also. 2020 was my "this year will be better!" year lol.

Thank you Cake. I'm not going to lie though, 2020 through a couple of oh damns at me personally. That's life though, still bobbin and weavin.

Method - June 26, 2020, 6:06 pm

you can't even compare this to ww2 lol

Beherit - June 26, 2020, 6:08 pm

We can't get back what's been lost, but I'm hoping for the best in the months we have left.

You've still have the will to do anything just got some limitations so I guess this isn't the worst compared to ww2.

Canadian - June 26, 2020, 8:02 pm

I think it might be the best year since WW2 tbh.

DeITex - June 26, 2020, 9:19 pm

WW2 started in 1939 and ran steady till 1945. 2020 sucks so far, yeah. But I wouldn't go as far as to say it beats out WW2 or many other crises for that mater.

Crypticus - June 27, 2020, 2:23 am

WW2 was a world changer, this virus will dissapear in a few months.

Mind - June 27, 2020, 2:26 am

Mate, you cannot compare World War II with a pandemic.

Method - June 27, 2020, 3:02 am ngl i think myself and a lot of people misunderstood the thread. Has there been a worse year since ww2? (even though that lasted years), probably tbh, I'm sure there's been a worse year in the earlier days AFTER those events.

I think it isn't the best year but much more better compares to WW2 :D

Artisan - June 27, 2020, 4:58 am

Whether if this is the best year or the worst year depends on your own personal experience. If you were someone who didnt experience WW2 in the slightest, then it might seem like this is the worst year or something along those lines. If you were someone who went through hell during WW2, for instance a jewish person tortured and tormented in Nazi concentration camps, then this year is a walk in the park for you. Its all relativity.

When some people are complaining about what we are experiencing, some are making billions of $$ with this same thing we are experiencing....what a funny world

X-32 - June 27, 2020, 10:21 am

2020 is an amazing year.

We've all learned to come together and really appreciate the basics in life.
Something that most people lost pre-pandemic.

Psychedelic. - June 27, 2020, 1:53 pm

It may be. The amount of people dying is greater than all war deaths since the Korean War.

Who Soup - June 27, 2020, 1:54 pm

It's honestly not that bad, society is just making it so much harder than it needs to be.
