As for trust as far I'm concerned, when the so called trusted sellers are being busted scamming, lying about their sell, reselling leaked content and other bullshit excuse me to say but yeah you can fill that trust up your ass. Sometimes I feel like people here forget what the hell this forum is all about, and they might lie to themselves about the legality of their business but the only reason why they don't get busted by the fed is because they are small fries. I'm here to do business not cater to your feelings.

PS: it has been proven that the contract system is irrelevant, HF does not have the authority to punish let alone control the exchange made on it own platform because they have no legal prerogative to do so.
